MOLOTOV HITS AT ATTACK ON VETO

Calls For Its Rejection 'As Attempt' To Prepare New War'

SAYS IT WOULD BE FATAL TO IGNORE SOVIET UNION

PARIS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov declared today that efforts to repudiate the right of veto in the U. N. security council should be rejected "as an attempt to prepare a new war" and warned that "it would be dangerous to ignore the Soviet Union" if the United Nations want peace.

Proposing "a Soviet system of democracy" for Trieste, Molotov made this statement after Australia charged yesterday that the security council was unfit to administer Trieste, and had fallen "into disrepute" through "arbitrary, irresponsible and dictatorial" use of the veto power.

Molotov declared that "if the United Nations want to defend peace without the Soviet Union, or even against the Soviet Union, it would be doomed to failure.

"Attempts to repudiate the right of veto in the security council should be rejected as an attempt to prepare a new war. The renunciation or repudiation of the right of veto will help those who are trying to set up an Anglo-American bloc, but they will come to nothing for they are doomed to the same ignominous failure as in the past."

Molotov presented to the Italian political and territorial commission of the European peace conference a 10-point proposal on internationalizing Trieste seeking to "neutralize and demilitarize" the area and assure withdrawal of "all foreign troops" within 30 days after the signing of the Italian treaty.

Other points included the giving of Italy and Yugoslavia free port zones and all other commercial access, setting up a Trieste-Yugoslav customs and railway union, election of a legislature by universal sufferage, and designation of a governor to enforce the Trieste statute.

He proposed placing police powers under an executive elected by the legislature and the giving of citizenship to all inhabitants of the area at the time Italy entered the war, except "Fascists."

He advocated also that the Big Four set up a provisional government which would order elections for the legislature held within three months.

Immediately after Molotov spoke the United States and Yugoslavia asked that they be heard at Monday's session of the commission.

Molotov asserted that British, French and American proposals on the Italian treaty draft failed to provide for "demilitarizing and neutralizing" the Trieste area, and asked, "we should like to know if this means that foreign tropos will remain in Trieste while it is under the United Nations security council. We cannot look upon Trieste as a military base for this or that foreign power."

He said he differed with the French, American and British conception of the powers that would be granted the governor of Trieste, who would be appointed by the United Nations security council.

These plans, he said, envisaged a governing officer appointed by foreigners, but he stressed that Trieste needed an executive authority vested in the government to be electd by the territory's popular assembly and responsible to the latter for its actions.

He said that Trieste should be autonomous and Democratic under Big Four initiative. He declared that the "Soviet system of democracy" works in the USSR "and certain of its principles could be applied with success in other countries."

FARMER IS KILLED AS MOTOR EXPLODES

Percy Williams, 44-year-old West Monroe farmer, was fatally injured yesterday evening when the motor used in the operation of a hammermill suddenly "went to pieces" and flying fragments of the motor struck him in the side and head.

Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, who was conducting an investigation of the accident, said last night that it had not been ascertained what had caused the motor to "explode."

Williams, who lived about eight miles west of here on the Dixie-Overland highway, was using an old Buick moter to operate his hammermill, and the accident occurred about 7 o'clock. The motor was torn to pieces, a big piece of metal dealing the victim a severe abdominal wound, and another piece hitting him in the left side of the head.

He died en route to a hospital here.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Ruston, had not been completed late last night.

Mr. Williams is survived by his wife; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, route 1, West Monroe; two brothers, Perry Williams, and Roland Williams, both of West Monroe, and three sisters, Mrs. Janet Saxon and Mrs. Edna Cottonbrooks, both of West Monroe, and the third, Inez, living in Shreveport.

Vast Shipping Strike Believed Nearing End

Conference Adjourns Without Reaching Wage-Work Agreement

(By Associated Press)

A conference of C. I. O. National Maritime Union leaders and shipowners in New York City adjourned last night without reaching a wage-work agreement, but a spokesman for the owners said "some progress has been made" and maritime circles indicated the nation's vast shipping strike was nearing an end.

The spokesman was Frank J. Taylor, head of the American Merchant Marine Institute, who led the owners' negotiating committee. The conference was scheduled to resume at 10 a. m. (E. S. T.) today.

A. F. of L. seamen, who began the industry-crippling walkout Sept. 5, had abandoned their picket signs and were preparing to man their vessels, but C. I. O. sailors continued the prolonged strike.

The C. I. O. men, demanding the same wages granted to A. F. of L. maritime workers, picketed harbors on the nation's three coasts. The lines were crossed in at least two instances by A. F. of L. men.

About 30 A. F. of L. longshoremen walked through a C. I. O. line at a New York pier to unload passenger hand luggage from the liner Washington. N. M. U. headquarters, however, said the strike was 100 per cent effective, declaring they had received reports of complete tie-ups "in all ports."

BOY, 16, ADMITS KILLING PARENTS

Tells Of Shooting To Get Money And Car To Run Away In

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Calmly and slowly, a slightly-built 16-year-old related today, a sheriff and district attorney reported, how he and a 15-year-old neighbor shot the older youth's parents to death with rifle and shotgun because they needed money and a car to run away.

Sheriff Emmett L. Shay said the youth, Billy Anderson, told him in a transcribed statement:

"I did it because the folks were so tough on me, and my step-mother never did get along with me."

The victims were W. H. Anderson, rancher at Yuba City, 400 miles north of here, Billy's father, and Mrs. Donnie Marie Anderson, his step-mother.

The Sutter county sheriff's office reported discovery of Mrs. Anderson's body late today, on a rockpile where the boy said he had thrown it.

The youth's statement was taken at a two-hour closed session with Shay, Sheriff G. W. Carpenter and District Attorney Lloyd Hewitt, the latter two of Sutter county, where the Andersons were slain Sunday night.

An only son, the 114-pound, 5-foot 4-inch Anderson gave this account, Hewitt declared:

He and the neighbor, Nathan Edward James, who also is under arrest, had talked for months of running away. So had a neighbor girl, Marilyn Hodge, 12. Last Sunday night he and James waited on a darkened porch for his parents to return home from a drive. Hiding until the couple had entered the house and were preparing for bed, they stationed themselves outside the bedroom window.

Young James, armed with a .22 caliber rifle, fired a shot through the curtain. Mrs. Anderson fell. Anderson jumped to his feet, and was cut down by a blast from his son's 12-gauge shotgun in the side of his face. Enter-

MONOPOLY BY 5 GROUPS CHARGED

C. I. O. Researchers Claim Concentration Of Economic Power

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—C. I. O. research experts, contending American economic power is becoming concentrated mainly in five big financial institutions, said today that "serious consideration" of public ownership or greater regulation of business may become necessary.

Outlining their views in the "Economic Outlook," monthly publication of the C. I. O.'s research and education departments, the experts named "the big five" which they said dominate American industry as:

The Morgan, Mellon, Rockefeller and DuPont families, and the Cleveland banks.

With three other "money blocs" represented by the Kuhn-Loeb firm and Boston and Chicago banks, they controlled together 106 of the 250 largest manufacturing and non-financial corporations in 1943-44, the Outlook said.

Arguing that government policy is aiding tendencies toward the "alarming growth" of giant corporations, the C. I. O. publication said that since the war, the War Assets Administration has turned over, on a priority system, large quantities of surplus goods and facilities to the largest corporations and has helped bring about a situation where economic concentration has been "carried almost to the ultimate."

"Eighty-three per cent of the government-financed industrial facilities were operated during the war by 168 of the 250 largest corporations. One hundred of the largest corporations operated three-fourths of them and nearly one-half were operated by only 25 corporations.

"Our economic structure in years to come will be determined to a large degree by who gains control of these facilities," said the C. I. O. review.

If the 31 corporations owned and controlled "by the five powerful families were to acquire the usuable government-owned facilities which they operated during the war," the Outlook said, "they would hold about half as many facilities as the entire economy had before the war, or 30 per cent of the nation's manufacturing facilities."

The C. I. O. researchers, from records of the department of commerce, War Production Board, Smaller War Plants Corporation, Senate military and small business committees, and statements of Secretary of Commerce Wallace and Senators Murray, Democrat, Montana, and Morse, Republican, Oregon, expressed the conclusion that:

"In the light of present economic tendencies it may become necessary to give serious consideration to this suggestion (of Senator Morse) that 'public control either through regulation or ownership' be explored as a means of curbing monopoly practices."

The Outlook declared that "price fixing and production restrictions go hand in hand with economic concentration. • • •

"Warehouses are jammed with men's white shirts, while it is almost impossible to buy one in a store. The same is true with hides and leather, many textile items, and even foodstocks. Why? Because monopoly interests are maintaining artificial scarcity in order to keep prices high. • • •

"These restrictive practices—fixing prices, creating scarities to justify high prices, withholding new scientific developments—will set the stage in coming years, and maybe even months, for serious economic repercussions."

Curtailment Of Flood Control Appropriation Hits Area Hard Blow

Expressing fear that the $5,900,000 fund appropriated by Congress for flood control in Northeast Louisiana may be unspent or lost, as a result of the order of President Truman to the war department drastically reducing expenditure of authorized flood control funds for the biennium of 1947-48, the Chamber of Commerce committee on flood control and drainage adopted a strongly-worded resolution Friday criticizing this action of the president as being "unwarranted, unjustified, unprecedented and illegal." The two-directional blow dealt flood control operations by President Truman and War Mobilization Director Steelman constitute a grave threat against the economic and physical security of Northeast Louisiana, declared Underwood Fourmy, chairman of the chamber's flood control committee.

President Truman's order limits flood control expenditures in 1947 to $95,000,000 and to $110,100,000 in 1948, leaving $300,000,000 of unusued funds appropriated for these years. Just how this order will affect the $5,900,000

NAVY PREPARES ITS SHIPS FOR STORM

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Coastal New England, alive to the destructive possibilities of tropical hurricanes since 588 persons died in one eight years ago, watched alert tonight as a new storm appearently slid safely past Nantucket—"well off the New England coast."

As the navy evacuated planes inland and police forces were summoned to extra duty, the weather bureau reported at 10 p. m. (EST) that the storm "at present seems to be showing signs of losing intensity."

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The navy recalled small ships and tugs to port in New England and battered down its aircraft tonight as a tropical hurricane swept northward along the eastern seaboard and Nantucket Island began to feel the first high winds of an expected gale.

All sailors' liberty was cancelled effective at midnight.

In southeastern Massachusetts, most of the New Bedford fishing fleet took shelter in port.

The commandant of the first naval district announced in Boston:

"Ships at sea have been advised of the existence of the storm and small ships and tugs of the navy in coastal waters have put into convenient ports.

"Aircraft at the naval air station, Quonset Point, R. I., and the naval air station at Charleston, R. I., that could not be placed in the protective covering of hangars have been flown to other fields where hangars are available or to fields well outside the path of the storm."

The announcement said that Rear Adm. Wilder D. Baker, commandant of the Boston naval base, "has issued orders cancelling all liberty at midnight Saturday night in order that he may have sufficient force to handle any emergency that may arise."

Nantucket reported the wind already rising shortly before 5:30 p. m. (EDT).

Residents in the vicinity of Sixth and Washington Streets had an unannounced program of music at 1 a.m. Saturday. Fearful screeches emenated from somewhere in that vicinity and scores of people unable to repose in the arms of Morpheus set forth to find out what was suddenly turned loose. Up in the topmost branches of a tree was discovered a most energetic screech owl. Residents clamored for someone to pull a gun and stop the racket but they remembered that it is unlawful to discharge firearms in the city limits and so the night continued to be made hideous. About 2 a.m. the vocal chords of the bird seemed to weaken and the noise was abated as weary ones sought to return to their repose.

WALL OFFICIALLY DECLARED WINNER

The vote for school board members in three wards of the parish was promulgated by the Ouachita Parish Democratic Committee yesterday, and C. G. Wall, Jr., of Ward Five, D. Frank Smith of Ward Six and Connie C. Fuller of Ward Seven were declared the nominees, according to Carl H. McHenry, secretary of the committee. Alden Shotwell is chairman.

The committee met at noon and canvassed the vote of last Tuesday's primary.

The official count in the close Fifth district congressional race is being awaited. The secretary of state will certify this vote in Baton Rouge, and it was stated yesterday that it probably will be Wednesday before this is done. The state law requires that the congressional returns must be promulgated within eight days after the primary and because several boxes have not been returned, it is thought that the canvass will be delayed until the final day, which will be Wednesday, unless the missing boxes are reported earlier.

FOREIGN POLICY UNITY IS URGED

Senator Connally Says There should Be No Bickering At Home

VANDENBURG SAYS DOUBT CAST ON AMERICAN UNITY

PARIS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The two senate advisers of the U. S. peace conference delegation pleaded today for united American support of the foreign policy outlined by Secretary of State Byrnes.

In formal statements obviously directed at the New York speech in which Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace advocated spheres of influence, Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) declared there should be no bickering at home while the delegates strove for peace, and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) said doubt had been cast on the unity and authority of American foreign policy.

Connally's statement was issued tonight without knowledge that President Truman had told a Washington news conference there was no change in established American foreign policy and that his "endorsement" of Wallace's speech resulted from a misunderstanding.

Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, declared that "if the United States is to speak with a presuasive and influential voice in the peace conference, there must be no division behind the lines."

A few hours before this Vandenberg had issued a statement which said "we can only cooperate with one secretary of state at a time."

The American policy outlined by Byrnes has been to support Britain and work with her on most of the issues that have arisen here. This had led to American-Soviet clashes, and thus the impression that the president had endorsed a diametrically opposed policy had struck the delegation like a thunderbolt.

Byrnes himself has not communicat-

ORLEANS STRIKE TENSION EASES

Riot Squad Is Replaced By Group Of 20 Police Officers

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Tension in the seamen's strike here, which resulted in a riot call last night, ended today with an A. F. L. decision to respect the picket lines of the C. I. O. pending a policy meeting scheduled Monday.

The police riot squad was called out after scores of C. I. O. pickets had threatened to stop the unloading of bananas from a United Fruit Company ship by A. F. L. workers whose strike ended yesterday.

The squad was replaced today by a group of 20 police officers who guarded the Erato street docks and there was no disorder reported.

After an executive meeting today between A. F. L. and C. I. O. officials, Alfred Chittenden, head of the A. F. L. marine council, announced that the A. F. L. had decided to maintain the "status quo" until Monday when another meeting will be held.

"There will be no crossing of picket lines by any group," Chittenden said. "Should any men do so, they will be acting as individuals and not as members of the marine council."

The A. F. L. chiefs conferred with leaders of the Committee for Maritime Unity, composed of five C. I. O. unions and one independent union.

After the announcement of the action the unloading of bananas was halted at the Erato docks.

Says He Approved Right To Deliver

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—President Truman today disavowed endorsement of Commerce Secretary Henry A. Wallace's foreign policy speech, asserting that when he voiced approval at a news conference Thursday he intended only to sanction the cabinet member's right to make the speech.

There is no change in American foreign policy, the president said, apparently ruling out Wallace's proposal to loosen American ties with Britain and ease up on the current policy of "toughness" toward Russia.

Republican members of Congress immediately assailed the president's statement and speculations grew apace over possibilities of a strained situation within the cabinet—between Wallace and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, declared the president's statement was "not consistent with the facts," questioned Mr. Truman's approval of Wallace's right to propose policies "in conflict with those of Secretary of State Byrnes," and added:

"I am wondering how many foreign policies you can have within an administration and still present any sort of common front to the world."

On the other hand, Senator Elbert Thomas, Democrat, Utah, a member of the foreign relations committee, applauded the president's statement, although he added that he believed Wallace's speech had been "greatly misinterpreted."

Rep. Cox, Democrat, Georgia, said the president's statement "ought to clear up the whole question."

Rep. Brown, Republican, Ohio, Republican national committee campaign director, declared that "frankness about admitting mistakes is small consolation to the nation for the tragedy of having a president who evidently does not know the meaning of or the identity of the public officials with whom he talks."

Mr. Truman read his statement to reporters specially summoned to his office to receive it. White House sources said it was not a regular press conference, but merely that the president wanted to make his declaration himself. When he read it he said that's all, and news men rushed for the doors, without asking any questions.

In Paris, earlier, Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, who is serving as a member of Secretary Byrnes's peace conference delegation, had issued a statement saying that Paris believed unity was lacking in American foreign policy as a result of Wallace's speech. About the time the president received the press, Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, Byrnes's other close associate at Paris, called for unified national backing for Byrnes's work there.

Mr. Truman, in his dramatic statement to the press, told the world "there has been no change in the established foreign policy of our government.

"There has been a natural misunderstanding regarding the answer I made to a question asked at the press conference on Thursday, Sept. 12, with reference to the speech of the secretary of commerce delivered in New York later that day. The question was answered extemporaneously and my answer did not convey the thought that I intended it to convey.

"It was my intention to express the thought that I approved the right of the secretary of commerce to deliver the speech. I did not intend to indicate that I approved the speech as constituting a statement of the foreign policy of this country.

"There has been no change in the established foreign policy of our government. There will be no significant change in that policy without discussion and conference among the president, the secretary of state and congressional leaders."

In effect the president's statement today was that the American policy still is that which is being applied by Secretary of State Byrnes at Paris. His clarification of that point, how-

1 DEAD, 10 HURT IN HOTEL BLAZE

Vera McBeth, Monroe Woman, Among Those Seriously Burned

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Great Northern Hotel, a 75-room structure, was destroyed by fire early today with the death of one person and serious injury to at least 10 others.

John Baima, 51, of Detroit, died in a hospital of injuries received when he fell to the pavement as firemen raised a ladder to rescue him.

Many others escaped by fleeing down corridors or jumping from windows and ledges into fire nets.

The flames discovered by a hotel porter about 1.10 a. m., leveled the 50-year-old, three-story structure which was a landmark in Hot Springs.

The smouldering ruins delayed firemen from searching for possible victims. Records were not available to show the number registered for the night but Manager T. A. Ford said he believed half the rooms were filled.

Prosecutor Curtis Ridgway said he would conduct an investigation of the fire, origin of which had not been determined.

The seriously injured are:

Louis Barrett, New Orleans, La.
Joe Short, Hot Springs.
J. D. Truitt, Miami, Fla.
Arnold Bray, Hot Springs.
H. H. Johnson, Sedalia, Mo.
Jimmy Adams and Martha Adams, his wife, of Arkadelphia, Ark.
Norman Castle, Hot Springs.
Vera McBeth, Monroe, La.
Chester Ross, Denver, Colo.

Five others were treated for minor burns at Levi Hospital and were discharged.

The fire first was discovered by a crippled Negro porter, who ran half a block to the fire station and cried: "The Great Northern's on fire!"

The hotel, about 50 years old and one of the resort city's oldest landmarks, was located near the heart of Hot Springs.

Four ambulances were kept busy rushing the injured to the hospital as thousands of spectators in this resort city lined the streets to watch the fire, some narrowly escaping injury themselves when live wires tumbled to the streets.

Buddy Hogg, 26-year-old cab driver, told reporters he was across the street shortly before 1 a. m. when he first saw smoke and flames rolling out of a top story window. Hall raced into the hotel lobby, took the elevator to the top floor, and helped four persons to safety.

Spectators who arrived at the fire near the beginning told of seeing one man and a woman jump from the top story to the pavement. Another woman who jumped was caught in a life net when an alert fireman saw her start to jump.

Witnesses told of terrified screams which came to the street from inside the hotel as occupants sought to escape outside. There were tales of individual heroism and scenes of grief as guests who had made their way

PLANE CRASH FATAL TO MONROE CITIZEN

B. V. Morris, 35, a Monroe brick mason, and his brother, Edward Morris, 27, a civil engineer of Longview, Tex., were instantly killed yesterday in a plane crash on a Longview street, according to information received here last night.

The Morris brothers left Monroe in the older brother's two-passenger plane at 8 o'clock yesterday morning en route to Houston, Tex., to visit their mother.

Then about 9 o'clock, as they were passing over Longview, the crash took place in a thickly-populated area.

Witnesses said the plane, apparently bothered with engine trouble, narrowly missed several residences while the pilot was apparently trying to gain altitude. Several power lines were severed as the plane finally crashed into the street and burned.

B. V. Morris resided at 311 North Fifth street here, and he had been married only four months ago to an Opelousas girl. His brother was not married.

Funeral services and interment for the crash victims will be held at Longview, but the time had not been made known here last night.

Besides their mother, the men also are survived by a brother and sister both living at Longview.

REPUBLICANS TO FIGHT IN 23 STATES FOR SENATORS

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Republican senatorial committee picked 23 states today where Vice-Chairman Brewster of Maine said the G. O. P. will make a stiff fight to elect the eleven additional members it needs to control the Senate next January.

Brewster told a reporter before he left to address a Republican meeting in Rhode Island that he is convinced by reports of field agents that the G. O. P. prospects for winning the Senate are "very encouraging."

"A gain of six to eight seats is a practical certainty and there are three or four more where the prospects are excellent," he said.

The Republicans now hold 38 seats, with a vacancy in Vermont where Senator Austin resigned.

With the campaign about to enter its final phase, the Maine senator said he feels Republican chances have been enhanced by "indications of Democratic discord and division." High up in that category he placed the controversy over Secretary of Commerce Wallaces recent statement on foreign policy.

"Democratic disavowels of Communist support indicate they are becoming worried about the close tie-up between the regular party organization and the left wingers," Brewster continued.

He mentioned recent decisions to continue shipping commodities to Yugoslav through UNRRA, despite Yugoslav attacks on American planes, as another instance where he believes the administration is on the wrong side of the political fence.

"I have heard of biting the hand that feeds you but never of feeding the hand that bites you," he said.

Brewster declined to estimate the Republican chances on a state by state basis but from another quarter it was learned the G. O. P. committee has listed 14 states where it believes it has much better than a 50-50 chance of winning.

Five of these states now have Democratic senators, including Delaware,

Looking Ahead In Washington

(By the World Staff of Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Government experts say it may be two years before world supplies of sugar increase enough to give Americans their prewar average of 100 pounds a year. This year it's 72.

Rationing is expected to continue at least until next June 30, when legal authority expires unless renewed by Congress.

Lewis' Role In A. F. Of L.

WASHINGTON—The fact that A. F. of L. unions touched off the current labor crisis has stirred speculation over whether John L. Lewis is making a bid to turn the A. F. of L. onto the sort of militant course on which he once hoped to guide the C. I. O.

Lewis attended the meeting of the A. F. of L. maritime department's executive council a month ago—may have made a speech or two—and later threw the financial and moral support of his 600,000 United Mine Workers behind the maritime strike.

There were indications too that he prodded A. F. of L. President William Green into polling the 15-man A. F. of L. executive council on withdrawing A. F. of L. representation on the wage stabilization board.

Watch United States Bonds

NEW YORK—One group of Wall Street investment dealers considers prospects good for an early advance in long-term government bonds.

These dealers believe the long decline from April's peak has been overdone. One issue sold in the last victory loan drive dropped to within less than two points of par last week. A recovery to 103 or more is in the offing, they say.

Church Diplomacy

VATICAN CITY—It is considered quite possible that Pope Pius XII will retain Vatican diplomatic affairs under his own control permanently. The key post of papal secretary of state fell vacant two years ago.

Movie Dark Horses

HOLLYWOOD — Major studios are anxiously watching the fantastic growth of two new competitors, Enterprise and Universal-International.

Enterprise does not claim to compete with the mass production methods of the majors but does plan class-A pictures.

Universal-International plans class-A productions on the same scale as the big studios. About 25 a year are planned, all million-dollar productions.

Japanese Industry

TOKYO—Japan's spinning industry is expected to have by year's end a consumption capacity of 340,000 tons of raw cotton from the United States. A million spindles are now in operation with another 500,000 to be added this year. Further recovery toward a goal of between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 spindles is planned. In pre-war years 12,000,000 spindles were in operation.

Vets' Dormitories

WASHINGTON — Veterans required to live in sleazy surplus war housing on some college campuses can look forward to a better shake.

The act allocating surplus housing to schools specified that only veterans could use it. The federal public housing authority now has ruled that college authorities may divide comfortable permanent dormitories and temporary quarters between vets and non-vets.

Worldwide Items

LONDON — Talk that Churchill's Conservative party will change its name at its October conference can be discounted. Supporters of the idea have found that the conference hasn't the power.

NEW DELHI — Representatives of Ceylon, Burma, China, the Philippines, Korea and Iran will meet at Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's invitation in February or March to "review the position of Asia in the post-war world."

LONDON—Steps are being taken to make it easier for ordinary citizens to get passage on America-bound ships. Thousands, weary of the food situation, want to go.

Bricker-Taft

WASHINGTON — Senator Taft and former Governor Bricker won't attempt until after the election to reach an agreement on who will get the backing of Ohio Republicans for a possible race for the 1948 G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Personal Paragraphs

WASHINGTON—Capitol Hill friends who have watched Representative Clare Boothe Luce's developing interest in atomic energy are wondering whether she is hoping for appointment to the domestic control commission.

ATLANTA—The new state constitution which Governor Ellis Arnall sponsored has backfired on him, and he's happy to admit it. Arnall sought to use several million dollars to build roads without matching federal funds. The attorney general ruled it would be unconstitutional. Said Arnall: "It is now clear that this administration . . . has guaranteed the solvency of the state."

EVERETT, Wash. — General Mark Clark has accepted an invitation to a "party" for Snohomish county's 50 foreign war brides October 1.

Capital Briefs

WASHINGTON—President Truman's next big job for General George C. Marshall is likely to be as National Red Cross chairman.

Practically every working man and woman in the nation will get a pink slip from the boss next year. But it will just be internal revenue form W-2, determining how much taxes are to be withheld.

European Briefs

ROME — Italian army officers, renowned for their "pretty" uniforms, are glum about a switch-over to the more practical British-style uniform which has been ordered.

LONDON—The closed shop issue, which threatens to split labor's ranks, is expected to produce fireworks at the annual meeting of the powerful Trade Union Congress October 21.

PARIS — European authorities on Latin America are forecasting that Argentine Communists will line up with President Peron, perhaps assailing American "dollar imperialists" as a result of Russian-American diplomatic trends.

Budget Blues

WASHINGTON — With an eye on shrunken budgets, the navy is considering following the army air forces' lead in requiring that sponsors must pay fuel bills and expenses of personnel taking part in air shows.

Despite economy cuts, army-navy spending will average out to well over $7,000 per uniformed man for the 12 months ending next June 30. That will be about the same as at the height of the war.

Red-Swede Trade

WASHINGTON — Expect continued dickering over the Swedish-Russian trade deal which reportedly sets up Swedish credits of $300,000,000 for the Russians. Reasons:

1. The deal is so big it would shut off other nations from the Swedish market.

2. It gives the Russian bloc the first opportunity to buy from Sweden's top-notch machine industries.

BUILDING PERMITS

G. L. Holloway to add to a one-story frame and stucco building to be used for a dwelling, located at 1420 Park Avenue. The total cost will not exceed $1,200 and L. D. Davis will supervise.

Roosevelt Sheldon to erect a two-story frame building to be used for a dwelling and cafe, located at 1511 Washington Street. The total cost will not exceed $1,000 and day labor will be used. Second-hand material will be used.

Ezra Bourn to erect a one-story frame building to be used for a dwelling, located at 710 Jack McEnery Street. The total cost will not exceed $250 and the owner will do the building. Second-hand material from the office and storeroom at the rear of the telephone building will be used.

Despite rationing and lack of new cars, auto registration in California reached an all-time high during the first six months of 1945—2,972,223.

SCOUTERS TO PLAN ROUNDUP PROGRAM

J. W. Webster, central district scout commissioner, has notified Scoutmasters of the white Boy Scout troops in the central district to attend a scoutmasters' round table meeting on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Boy Scout office.

At the meeting the first annual Scout roundup program will be discussed in detail, plans will be completed for the holding of a public Campfire and Court of Honor ceremony, and other matters will be discussed.

KINDERGARTEN TO OPEN

The Martin Temple community kindergarten will open Sept. 23, and registeration for the classes will be conducted Tuesday through Friday at Cartin Temple Church between 9 and 11 a. m. each day Any information concerning the kindergarten for Negro children may be obtained by calling Marie Penn, supervisor, at 4595-W or 985-R.

Arthritis and Rheumatic Pains

Thousands of sufferers from the pains and aches of Arthritis, Rheumatism, Swollen Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica and Neuritis have been delighted to discover that the Doctor's formula called Romind starts circulating through the blood almost immediately after the first dose, usually helping nature remove poisonous wastes and excess acids that often cause pains and soreness, and at the same time promptly combating the pain and discomfort.

8-Day Trial Offer: To prove what Romind can do to help you feel improved and how fast it works, get Romind from your druggist and take exactly as directed. See the results for yourself. You be the judge. Unless surprised and delighted, simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed. Don't suffer another hour without trying Romind. If your druggist is out, ask him to get it from his wholesaler.

Military Instruction To Be Given At N. J. C. This Fall

Students who register at Northeast Junior College for the 1946-47 term will be offered military instruction by enrolling in the R. O. T. C. The local institution is one of three in the state which are prepared to give training in the senior division of the R. O. T. C. The other two are Louisiana State University and John McNeese Junior College, the Lake Charles branch of L. S. U.

The elementary course is general in nature and designed to give the student a foundation of intelligent citizenship. It provides instruction in military subjects common to all branches of the army prerequisite to specialized training in the advanced course.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States and at least 14 years of age and under 23 years of age except in the case of veterans. Screening tests emphasizing general knowledge and aptitudes planned for all R. O. T. C. units throughout the United States will be given.

Uniforms, textbooks and all equipment will be furnished without cost to the student. R. O. T. C. cadets at the college are required to wear uniforms at drill periods which usually are scheduled once a week.

The program calls for three hours of classroom work and one hour of drill per week. The elementary curriculum includes the following studies: World military situation, military organization, hygiene and first aid, leadership drill and execution of command, physicial development methods, individual weapons and marksmanship, maps and aerial photographys, National Defense Act and R. O. T. C., military administration, evolution of warfare and military law and boards.

Veterans having over six months and less than one year of service may be given credit for the first year of the elementary course by the professor of military science and tactics. Those with 12 months or more of service may be given credit for the entire elementary course and become eligible for advance work. At present, students in the elementary course receive no pay; those enrolled in the advanced work receive about 66 cents per day.

The advanced course is a specialized branch type designed to qualify students for Reserve commissions in one of the several services: Infantry, chemical warfare, signal corps, ordnance, engineers and cavalry.

Successful completion of this phase of training leads to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps. Since a four-year course is required for a commission, the student must have completed the first two years of work to be eligible for the last two years unless he is a veteran. He must start in his freshman year of college to secure the advantages of the advanced course.

A reserve officer is eligible for call to active duty only in case of emergency declared by congress. He may voluntarily request short periods of active duty, however.

History proves that the average male between the ages of 18 and 60, at some time may become a member of the military profession. Even if he does not follow this profession as a career, the chances are that he may be connected with military service sometime during his life.

The military personnel at Northeast Junior College includes: Capt. Bernard D. Reynolds, Jr., commandant, M/Sgt. H. C. Jolly and S/Sgt. C. W. Allen.

LOCAL MAN HELPS HICKAM TO WIN

Mrs. David E. Riddle, 605 North Sixth Street, Monroe, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Ray, also of Monroe, were delighted to receive a clipping from the Honolulu Star-Bulletin which showed Mrs. Riddle's husband shaking hands with Brigadier-General John G. Williams upon the return home from Japan of the victorious Hickam Bomber baseball team on which Riddle was outfielder.

The team won the AAF Pacific diamond championship with a record of four wins and no losses.

The Milk Situation

The several representatives of the three Boards of Health of the community are to be congratulated upon the action they took Friday night in demanding that a strict standard of sanitation be maintained by dairies which provide milk for the Twin Cities and the parish. It was unanimously voted that reports of dairy inspectors of the parish health unit be furnished each member of the Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita Parish Boards of Health, and that dairies which do not comply with the sanitary code be closed down until dangerous conditions are corrected.

This action came none too soon. While there may be nothing to become alarmed about at present, it is certainly the duty of the health unit to see that sanitary standards at every dairy in the parish and every producing source which furnishes milk from outside the parish be maintained.

It has been known for some time that the code governing dairy sanitation has not been enforced. The chairman of the Monroe Board of Health charged that the chairman of the Parish Board of Health had made the statement that several dairies had been below standard for eight and a half months. This charge was denied, but the records at the health unit show that the bacteria count in milk furnished by some of these dairies has been dangerously high for many months.

Furthermore it is a matter of record that instances of contamination were uncovered three or four years ago, yet little was done to improve conditions.

Members of the three boards are not to be blamed unless they received reports of the local dairy inspectors. They had no way of knowing conditions unless they made periodic visits to the health center and inspected the records. Under the resolution adopted Friday night, this will be changed because reports of each inspection must be furnished each board member.

This is no indictment of all or even a large majority of dairies in the parish. Certainly those who maintain the high standard of sanitary conditions prescribed in the state code will welcome frequent inspections and the publicizing of the fact that they have met all of the requirements of the law.

One physician present at Friday's meeting suggested that perhaps some of the dairy owners had "political connections." If such "connections" would prevent enforcement of sanitary laws, it is a sad reflection upon the men who are charged with the protection of the community's health.

"We who have accepted membership on the various boards have a duty to perform which should not be influenced by any personal or political dictates," the chairman of the meeting told the group. "It is our duty to see that the sanitary code is strictly enforced through constant surveillance. The life of a child may depend upon our vigilance."

A SAMPLE PROBLEM

In one of the most interesting—though perhaps not the most newsworthy—paragraphs in his Stuttgart speech, Secretary of State Byrnes said: "The American people want peace. They have long since ceased talk of a hard or soft peace for Germany. This has never been the real issue. What we want is a lasting peace."

It does indeed seem a long time since the general debate on "what kind of peace for Germany" was at its height. Actually it is not much more than 500 days ago, but those days have been filled with developments which make that argument seem hopelessly remote.

In that remote day, however, the issue of a hard or soft peace for Germany was a very real one. The quality of the peace terms promised to be a determining factor in the question of whether peace was to be lasting.

The debate was academic to be sure. Some excellent minds engaged in it, but unfortunately they belong for the most part to men and women outside the realm of professional politics. The argument was based on the assumption that one of the principal jobs of peace would be to render the aggressor nations powerless to make war, and that the job would enlist the same united effort that marked the victorious military collaboration of the Allies.

Time will tell whether the issue of a hard or soft peace was real, vital and fateful. And the answer may not be long in coming. But one thing is certain: right or wrong, real or illusory, the victorious nations cannot join that issue again.

Germany already is a potential pawn or partner, at least. Such a situation is certainly not "in the interest of world peace," as Mr. Byrnes said. But it is a real and apparently unchangeable situation, nevertheless. And it makes the future of Germany a grave and explosive problem.

In an even broader sense the problem of Germany is a sample and synthesis of the problem confronting all mankind. It has been argued that the Germans are perhaps the most progressive people in Europe. Their science and industry are vital to European economy. Therefore, a pastoralization of the Germans would be a crippling blow to the whole continent. Yet the Germans are also the most belligerent of Europeans.

How, then, are their science and industry to be promoted, while their aggressiveness is being curbed? How are they to be permitted to grow strong in order to produce for the general material good, and yet be prevented from using their strength and productivity as bait and barter for military alliances looking toward more aggression?

These questions can be asked of all mankind. The human race is progressive, scientific and industrious. It cannot be pastoralized. Yet the human race is also belligerent. Today it would seem that man's progress is toward both ultimate human achievement and ultimate human destruction.

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14—20th Century-Fox bosses, concerned about Nancy Guild's health, have ordered her to take time out for a complete physical check-up . . . Ha! Gridstar Bob Waterfield's first decision, on taking over business management for his wife, Jane Russell, was to put the kibosh on "undignified" publicity . . . Jane Greer, Rudy Vallee's ex, is now running neck and neck with Martha Vickers for the affections of multi-millionaire Huntington Hartford . . . Betty Hutton says she's going to be hard to handle unless Paramount buys the stage hit, "Annie Get Your Gun" as her next screen vehicle.

Spinal injuries suffered by RKO's Robert Ryan, when he fell from his horse during stunt scenes for "Trail Street," are more serious than first reported . . . Alec Templeton, the blind pianist, and Bill Stern, the lame sports announcer, will co-star in a picture designed to build the morale of hospitalized veterans . . . Chilled: George Raft and New York showgirl June Williams . . . It looks like an October alter-trek for Joan Blondell and stage producer Mike Todd, whose long-estranged wife died recently . . . The Leif Eriksons (he's Frances Farmer's ex) have dated Doe Stork for spring . . . Stand by for legal fireworks if United Artists theatres refuse to play "The Outlaw," now that MPAA has withdrawn its seal of approval from that much discussed film.

Cornel Wilde has appealed to the California Fish and Game Commission for aid in ridding his very suburban property of deer which are killing his shrubs and trees . . . Cited for the Croix de Merite: Producer Buddy de Sylva, who's donating nearly $250,000 worth of fine paintings to the Los Angeles County Art Museum . . . Hmmm, RKO bosses say Lawrence Tierney is completely innocent of the drunk and disorderly charges hanging over his head. They'll back him when he faces trial next week.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: Warner Brothers' "Cloak and Dagger" (Gary Cooper-Robert Alda). Triple A melodrama, with more thrills than a roller-coaster ride . . . RECOMMENDED: Paramount's "Two Years Before The Mast" (Alan Ladd-Brian Donlevy). One of America's greatest sea stories provides plot for one of Hollywood's greatest sea pictures . . . 20th Century-Fox's "Three Little Girls In Blue" (June Haver-George Montgomery-Vivian Blaine). A blue-ribbon musical that will send you home humming. . . . GOOD: United Artists' "Little Iodine" (Jo Anne Marlowe-Marc Cramer). Proof that comic strips can be good screen material . . . 20th Century-Fox's "Strange Journey" (Paul Kelly-Osa Massen). He-man fare for the thrill fans . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Gary Cooper in "Cloak and Dagger."

With little semblance of fairness, a certain Hollywood trade paper recently published a letter in which an anonymous G. I. branded Ronald Reagan as "A Hollywood Commando who fought the war from nightclub floors." The truth is that Reagan was one of the first screen stars to step into uniform. His extremely bad eyesight, which necessitates the wearing of strongly corrective glasses, barred him from combat duty. He repeatedly asked to be sent to the front. Denied that privilege, he did such an efficient job in the important task assigned him that he won high praise from his superior officers. Publication of that malicious, and unjustified, letter by an editor, who certainly knows Reagan's factual record, was inexcusable—doubly so, since the letter was unsigned.

In view of the announcement that Orson Welles and Rita Hayworth have decided to reconcile and that she will co-star with him in a picture for Columbia, another title-change seems appropos. The Welles-Hayworth production now appears on the studio schedule as "I Take This Woman." "I Keep This Woman" would be more suitable under the circumstances.

It seems to me that MGM is playing it smart in refusing to give Robert Montgomery a new contract under which he would be both the producer and the star of his pictures. Were such a ticket given to Montgomery, who unquestionably is qualified to act as producer, studio bosses would immediately be confronted with unethical demands from almost all of their other stars, many of whom are NOT qualified. It's as unwise to give special privileges to one actor as it would be to give a stick of candy to one tot, while telling his playmates that they can't have any sweets.

Wondering muse: If the Red Skelton's heir, due next May, should prove to be an unusually mischievious boy, wonder if the older Skelton will continue to regard his radio character, "Junior", as the most amusing of all his comedy roles?

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson For Sept. 22
Scripture: Exodus 22:21-23; Deuteronomy 24:14, 15; Matthew 25:31-41.
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The treatment of minorities is a vexed and troubled issue in our modern world. Prejudice and hatred have occasioned colossal suffering and tragedy. The Jews, who enunciated as indicated in the Scripture passages in our lesson the law of kindliness and fairness toward the stranger, are the chief victims of this murderous inhumanity.

Even in the United States, and in a measure in Canada, where we have prided ourselves on the democratic achievement of enabling persons of widely varied sorts in origin, race and creed, to live amicably together, the monstrous ogre of prejudice against minorities has raised its vile, denunciatory voice. The law of the stranger is something to be studied, not only in relation to a far-off time in Israel, but as something vitally affecting every modern community.

It is interesting to note the ground on which the law of the stranger in Israel was based, viz., that the Jews had themselves been strangers in Egypt. People do not commonly profit so well and favorably from their own experience. It is often those who have been the victims of racial and social prejudice who are most relentless in their prejudice against others. In a Connecticut town some years ago, a local citizen remarked to me upon the fact that the most prejudiced against the Italian immigrant were the children of the "paddy-Irish," whose parents had been subject to social taboo a generation earlier.

Where differences are great, likes and dislikes are not unnatural, and they might not be a matter of great concern if they did not occasion irrational, unjust and persecuting attitudes and actions. It may be of little moment whether my neighbor likes me or not, but it becomes of great importance if he talks against me, if he stirs up hatred of me in others, and especially if he interferes with my rightful freedom of thought and action, or seeks in any way to deprive me of my civil rights and privileges.

But dislikes easily develop into hates. They ought not to be fostered, and instead we ought to study the ways of understanding and liking one another. Differences often become a cause of better mutual appreciation, when they are understood. What a heritage the Jew has brought to our civilization! What depths of art and culture are in the backgrounds of every type of European immigrant! What rich, and as yet undeveloped resources are in the Negro cheerfulness and rhythmic beauty of music and song that have survived many decades of slavery! There is no minority element that has not an essential contribution to make to a full-orbed democracy.

There ought to be no strangers in a democracy, where the law of a common humanity should rule. In a perfect society it would be said to all: "Ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens" (Ephesians 2:19).

OUR CHILDREN

HIGH SCHOOL

The most important point in a pupil's high school experience is his preparation for whatever he is to do after graduation. Strange as it may seem, there are many graduates who have not the slightest notion where they'll go after getting their diploma.

Some of them discover that they cannot enter the college they selected because they have not the required courses. That means a year, two years more of preparation and many of them are so disappointed and discouraged that they give up and look for a job, any job. That means a great loss.

Parents should keep watch over each child to make certain that he knows where he is going. Schools should provide all necessary equipment and a fluid program. We must be patient with our students, for there are some who will have no notion about what they are fitted to do right up to the senior year. If teachers and parents work together, as they should, they will know what to advise and how to get the student ready for his life work.

My experience is that the pupils who are going to take professional training have little difficulty. The schools are set for them because books are their field and books and school are close together always.

But the pupils who are not book-minded, who will seek their work in other fields, fare badly in many places. For them there are no suitable schools, no training, no real guidance, no opportunity to search for the one thing they can do, like to do and be given time to do. For too many, the plan still is books, tests on book knowledge or nothing.

Now these pupils are valuable people, quite as valuable to the nation as the book-minded people, and our own welfare demands that we make the most of their skill, their strength and their characters for the building of the nation. Among that group are the craftsmen, tradesmen, mechanics, the workers who take up the slack between the planners and the achievement of the idea—all intelligent, able and essential people in the life of the nation. The schools should make a place for them, give them the respect, the care, the skilled teaching they need for their work.

Do stop insisting that only students with a high I. Q., a rating based on intellectual achievement, be accepted in the trades schools, the vocational schools, the music and the art schools regardless. We had one who could not read but who got hold of a cello and played it so that he made his way into the high school orchestra. He was a cellist and when his I. Q. was measured from that standpoint, he was tops. Every American child is entitled to an education suited to his gifts, not to his handicaps.

We insist on sending the children to school for 12 years or so. The least we can do is to see to it that these years are not wasted.

Stimulate your child's interest in reading by having books in the house which he will enjoy. To know what books, consult Dr. Patri's leaflet P-8, "Good Books For Children." To obtain a copy, send five cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to him c/o Monroe Morning World, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

IN WASHINGTON

By Douglas Larsen
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—(NEA)—Periodically the treasury department rears up and launches a campaign to encourage the greater use of two-dollar bills. Simultaneously the American public turns a deaf ear to the treasury's pleading, continues to shun the bills as though they were infested, and tears their corners off with new vigor.

Why the treasury keeps printing two-dollar bills when nobody likes them is somewhat of a mystery. There is no law or regulation fixing how much of this denomination should be printed in proportion to any other denomination. It's merely tenacity on the part of the treasury in holding to its conviction that the two-dollar bill is a good idea.

Here are the two main reasons it gives for printing them: In making up cash payrolls, the use of two-dollar bills means less counting and less chance for error; and, obviously, it costs just half as much to print the same amount of money in two-dollar bills as it does printing it in one-dollar bills.

According to treasury's records, there are 25,425,340 two-dollar bills in circulation. There is approximately $27,000,000,000 worth of paper currency in circulation, and this proportion is maintained all the time.

The Treasury Department is too pure to come right out and say that it also prints two-dollar bills for the convenience of race-track bettors—two dollars being the most popular bet. It puts it this way: "We try to satisfy the requests of banks which we know are in the vicinity of race tracks for a higher proportion of two-dollar bills."

It is true that race tracks like to use two-dollar bills, but not for the convenience of the bettor. It's easier and faster to make change with them. It's the bettors who are largely responsible for tearing off the corners. There is the superstition that tearing off the corner takes the "curse" off the bill.

Where the idea that there is a curse on a two-dollar bill started, nobody appears to know. The Treasury Department would like to get its hands on the individual responsible. And where the idea that tearing off their corners would remove the curse from the bills got started is just as much of a mystery. Both beliefs seem to have become widespread about the same time.

But wherever the "curse" idea and its antidote came from, it's an expensive headache to the treasury. Two-dollar bills come back to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, mutilated, faster than any other denomination of bills. And practically all of them have their corners gone.

Just a little bit of the corner gone doesn't constitute "mutilation" as far as the treasury is concerned. So, although the treasury doesn't officially recognize the "curse" belief, one of its experts who has studied the thing thoroughly claims that the tiniest bit off the corner would be just as effective in combatting the curse as would a large piece. In spreading this idea, the treasury hopes to cut down the turnover on two-dollar bills.

During the war the two-dollar bill probably made its greatest contribution, in a negative way. Treasury officials knew the Axis had been hoarding American paper money for a long time. They were afraid attempts would be made to bring it across the border from Mexico to finance fifth-column efforts in the United States.

But, by a careful check of serial numbers of outstanding bills, it was discovered that whoever was hoarding the money for the Axis also had the American antipathy to the two-dollar bill. None of it was in this denomination.

Thus the regulation permitting only two-dollar bills to be carried back and forth across the Mexican border was placed in effect. The treasury reports that this device succeeded in keeping Axis-held American paper money out of the United States.

The treasury denies charges that the two-dollar bill is kept in circulation under pressure from the Chamber of Commerce of Charlottesville, Va. The face of Thomas Jefferson is on one side of the bill, with a picture of his historic home, Monticello, on the back. Monticello is one of the show-places of Charlottesville for tourists, and it has been charged that the two-dollar bill constitutes an advertising circular for that town.

In connection with a discussion of the two-dollar bill, the treasury also gives an account of how the $ sign came into being:

"The origin of the $ sign has been variously accounted for, with perhaps the most widely accepted explanation being that it is the result of evolution, independently in different places, of the Mexican or Spanish "P's" for pesos, or piasters, or pieces of eight. The theory, derived from a study of old manuscripts, is that the "S" gradually came to be written over the "P," developing a close equivalent of the $ mark which eventually evolved. It was widely used before the adoption of the United States dollar in 1785."

Some day, the treasury apparently hopes, a generation of Americans will come along with love in its soul for the two-dollar bill. But in the meantime, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will keep the embattled bills rolling off the presses just as fast as Americans tear the corners off those already in circulation.

AUTUMN FROLICS WEEK IS PLANNED

This is "Autumn Frolic" week at the Young Women's Christian Association. Directed by the executive secretary, Miss Bess Sharp, and the board of directors, the first number on the program will comprise an "open house" this afternoon at 904 Jackson Street, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Hostesses will be members of the Business and Professional Girls' Club. All friends of the "Y" are invited to attend.

Monday there will be "Crazy Bridge" at 8 p.m. in the clubrooms and Tuesday there is to be a weiner roast.

"Afternoon Coffee" will be served in a more formal event at Hotel Virginia Wednesday from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. However, the real big party of all will be held in the quarters formerly occupied by the USO, 111 Catalpa Street, and will comprise a dancing party with games and other amusements for those who are not dancing. This will be a strictly formal affair and is being looked forward to with unusual interest by the "Y" girls and their friends.

Pitching Horseshoes
By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

I darn near cut my throat this morning. No. I wasn't trying to please certain well-wishers who have been suggesting it for years. I almost cut my throat every morning. When I perform the boring, irritating, confounded, infuriating, deadly, maddening ritual of shaving.

I don't blame my razor — a surgeon would be proud to wield it. My shaving soap is creamier than the top of a charlotte russe. The light over my mirror is like the searchlight on the Albany night boat. I have no quarrel with the advertising boys, or with the gock and gadgets they sell. Except when they tell me they make shaving a pleasure. I'd rather get a hotfoot every morning than spend that quarter hour face to face with my face.

I pick up the razor each day determined not to inflict any new wounds. The wide open spaces of my cheeks are a cinch—it's the delicate work around the chin and upper lip where I get into trouble. Sometimes I forget the deadly weapon in my hand and daydream a bit. But I am soon jerked back to reality by the sight of my own blood welling out of a deep gash in the jowl.

There are about fifty million guys in this country who devote fifteen minutes a day to shaving—91 man-hours a year, over eleven eight-hour days. This comes to something like a half a billion working days a year, which could be used for sleeping or improving the mind. Why don't the big scientific fellows forget about nuclear energy for a while and go to work on beards? With the whisker situation what it is in Russia, they might come up with something that even Gromyko would approve.

A bartender once told me the Indians avoided this daily blood-letting by pulling out the hairs with clam-shells. I tried it, and nearly pulled off my face. I dislike the morning scrape so much I frequently stay in bed an extra hour to delay it. Sometimes, in a half doze, I dream I'm lathering, shaving, talc-ing, and dressing. As I tie my tie, I awake and find myself sitll in bed. You can imagine how mad I get when I have to shave twice that morning.

For a while I seriously thought of growing a beard. But only for a while. When I cautiously broached the notion to my wife, she asked whether I would sleep with it over the covers or under the covers. A wisenheimer around the office said he thought he could get me subsidized by one of the mattress companies. I started getting telegrams signed "Robin Redbreast," inquiring whether my chin would be available for nesting purposes. I remembered that kids pop out of doorways and holler "Beaver" whenever a set of whiskers goes by. A confidence man who works the boats told me I'd be a mark for every grifter with a gold brick—crooks figure a beard conceals a weak chin.

In the face of all this, I let the fuzz sprout untrimmed. After five days I looked like the rear elevation of a porcupine. My own pup took to snapping at my ankles, and my wife put a smallpox sign on her door.

What was a guy to do? Shave, that's what. Oh well, it's easier than bearing children.

ARTIE SHAW GAINS SLASH IN ALIMONY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Clarinetist Artie Shaw has won a reduction from $2,000 monthly to $50 monthly for the next two years in the alimony he pays his divorced third wife, Elizabeth Kern, daughter of the late Composer Jerome Kern.

Actually, the court cut the alimony to $1,000 monthly, but because Artie showed that his income was reduced from $250,000 to $38,000 last year, the judge said he should have been paying only $1,000 for those 12 months.

If the court held, Shaw's income tops $70,000 a year, the third Mrs. Shaw may ask to have the alimony put back on a $2,000 monthly basis. Actress Ava Gardner, Mrs. Shaw No. 4, now is suing Artie for divorce.

MOTHER IS ARRESTED IN CRIPPLED TOT'S DEATH

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Jeannette Paz, 21, former taxi dancer and wife of a Philipino entertainer, will be returned to Stockton, California today to face charge of murdering her four-year-old spastic paralytic daughter, Judy.

The woman was arrested at a Western Union office yesterday. She had gone there for an answer to her request to Chicago for money from her husband, Frank.

Chief of Police Rex C. Parker of Stockton said the child's body was found Thursday in an asparagus patch and evidence indicated the little girl was beaten with a curtain rod in the hotel where the woman was employed.

Police Lt. M. H. Gaskell said, however, that Mrs. Paz told him she choked the girl to death "because she never had any fun, she never would get well, nothing could be done for her and so I just decided to end the cruelty of it all then and there."

GREASE CATCHES FIRE

Hot grease that became ignited was blamed yesterday for a fire at the home of C. C. Wright, 201 Rochelle avenue, according to Monroe firemen who were summoned to extinguish the blaze. The fire had been extinguished, however, before their arrival.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

And when he came unto Lehi, the Philistines shouted against him; and the Spirit of the Lord came mightily upon him, and the cords that were upon his arms became as flax that was burnt with fire, and his bands loosed from off his hands—Judges 15:14.

And, weaponless himself, Made arm

Ridiculous.

HOME-BUILDING IN LOUISIANA DROPS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Home-building in three Louisiana cities, Baton Rouge, New Orleans and Shreveport, decreased 53.4 per cent in volume during 1945, James R. Ridgway, vice president of the Investors Syndicate said here today.

New homes started in the three cities in 1945 provided shelter for 8,643 persons, a drop of 9,916 persons from the numbered sheltered by new homes in 1944.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD Sept. 12.—(AP)—Victor Borge, who as a penniless refugee almost took a service station job six years ago, is now selling gasoline—but at a few thousand dollars a week on a big radio show.

The Danish comedian-pianist's career reads like an advertisement for the freedom of opportunity in America. For in six years he has risen from poverty to a position of distinction in the entertainment world.

Borge had been the highest paid performer in his native Denmark. All would have gone well with him except for one failing—he hated the Nazis. As early as 1934 he attended Hitlerite meetings and ridiculed the hate mongers. He was playing in Sweden when the Germans marched into his native land, and a friendly police official sent a courier to warn him not to return.

The performer landed in New York with the ability to say only "yes," "no" and "what time is it?" in English. He tells of going to a swank party where he got by using only that conversation. His American wife translated his comedy routines word for word and Victor laboriously learned them in English. But producers seemed unwilling to take a chance on this fresh material. Why try anything new when "who's on first" type of comedy always pays off?

Desperate, the Borges came to the land of opportunity—California, that is. Still no luck. Unable to meet the rent on his one-room apartment, Victor was about to take a job filling tires and checking oil. Then his luck turned.

He was brought to the attention of Rudy Vallee. The Vagabond Lover had no spot ready but referred him to Crosby show for a one night performance and stayed 56 weeks.

The Borge home now has considerably more than one room and rests on an 18-acre ranch in the San Fernando Valley. He has a radio program with an odd billing designed to please everybody—the Victor Borge show starring Benny Goodman. Besides, he is a success whenever he wants to make records, night club or concert dates.

"If you think I am good in those fields," said Borge, who does not dabble in false modesty, "you should see me in the movies. That is where I perform the best."

Borge has not made any films in this country, except for an abortive Frank Senitra picture of an early vintage. He had rejected many offers for specialty bits, holding out for a full-fledged role. He is not impatient about waiting for producers to see the light. Victor has learned that anything can happen in America.

FIVE 'LUXURY' SQUATTERS HELD

Prominent Members Arrested As Government Cracks Down

LONDON, Sept. 14. —(AP)— Five prominent members of the Communist party were arrested tonight in a crackdown on "luxury squatters" as the government acted to halt the spreading Communist - directed campaign.

The arrests followed quickly a government statement deploring "violence and lawlessness" and instructing municipal officials in England and Wales to guard against further seizures of apartments and other properties by homeless families. Police patrols were reinforced and alerted.

All five Communists leaders were charged with "conspiring together with other persons to incite persons to trespass on property, and aid and abet and direct such trespass against the peace." All were granted bail and released for hearing in magistrate's court Monday.

Those arrested were:

Edward F. Bramley, secretary of the London district Communist party.

Gabriel (Bill) Carritt, son of an Oxford University philosopher and Communist member of the Westminister City committee.

Morris Israel Rosen, a member of the Stepney Borough Council.

Mrs. Joyce Allergant, a Communist leader.

Ernest Stanley Henderson, secretary of the committee acting for squatters in the swank Duchess of Bedford house, occupied last Sunday in the opening swoop on a number of apartments in the fashionable West London residential district.

One squatter also was arrested at Fountain Court, one of the invaded apartments, and was charged with obstructing police.

The buildings invaded for the most part were vacant and in process of redecoration after their wartime use by the government.

Calling for "action against squatters" Minister of Health Aneurin Bevan in a letter to local authorities ordering them to keep all premises locked.

"The government is confident," Bevan said, "that local authorities will take firm and prompt action on these lines in defense of ordered government and the principles of social justice on which the system of allocation of available housing accommodation is based."

Bevan declared that allotment of housing "cannot be usurped by individuals; nor can public authority permit the claims of the most needy, who have been waiting for a long time for homes, to be overridden by violence and lawlessness.

MONROE, LOUISIANA

REPUBLICANS

Idaho, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Washington. Eight of the others have Republican incumbents, including Connecticut, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Dakota and Vermont. The 14th seat formally was filled by Senator LaFollette, Progressive of Wisconsin, defeated in the Republican primary.

In a second classification, where the Republicans figured their chances as a little better than those of the Democrats, the committee listed nine states as follows:

Arizona, California, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, New York, New Mexico, West Virginia and Wyoming. Only one of these seats, that in California, now is held by a Republican.

In a third category where they apparently thought their chances were slimmer, the Republicans listed Kentucky, Maryland, Nevada, Rhode Island and Utah. One of these seats, that in Kentucky, is held by a Republican.

TRUCKING DEMANDS MADE LESS SEVERE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. — (AP) — New union demands "less severe" than those which started the metropolitan New York trucking strike were reported tonight to have been placed before employer delegates meeting with union representatives and Mayor O'Dwyer's advisory committee.

Joseph M. Adelizzi, chairman of the employers' negotiating committee, announced the new development as the strike closed 770 chain-operated food stores in this area.

The negotiating meeting was to be resumed late tonight following a brief recess.

The store closings involved the A. and P., with 500 stores and 8,000 employes, and the Safeway with 270 stores and 3,500 employes. Officials had announced that the stores would not be reopened after the week-end unless trucking was resumed.

The overall strike involves about 20,000 trucks manned by A. F. of L. Teamsters.

A. and P. announced its employes would be paid during the compulsory lay-off.

O'Dwyer named the committee last night after truck operators and locals 807, 282 and 816 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters failed to get together on an agreement.

Before today's meeting John E. Strong, president of local 807, principal unit involved in the strike, said: "I believe something can be done today. I believe the committee will be helpful. I imagine the committee would publish a report which would influence a lot of people. We feel our cause is just."

There apparently was no prospect of an early settlement. Strong previously had said he did not believe an agreement could be reached "for at least a week."

MUNITIONS BOARD HEIR TO 'M-DAY'

Counted On To Draw Industrial Mobilization Plan For U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 —(AP)—The army-navy munitions board apparently has fallen heir to the job of drawing a new "M-Day" plan for the industrial mobilization of America for any future war.

The joint military agency has been working quietly on a stand-by arms plant program of underclosed size, a task to which President Truman also has assigned Donald M. Nelson, former War Production Board chairman, to advise and assist.

Nelson, it was learned tonight, is to prepare a report outlining a cold-storage war industry and recommending any legislation necessary to authorize and finance it during peacetime, in readiness for any national emergency.

This program is less comprehensive than the broad, "workable plan for the immediate mobilization of war industries" demanded two weeks ago in a report of the Senate committee on national defense, but apparently may grow to that stature.

The office of war mobilization and reconversion, whose name would indicate it is responsible for such work, said no direct authority exists in law to undertake it. However, Deputy Director Harold Stein reported that the Nelson-ANMB study will be "something broader" than a packaged war plant scheme. Military officials said it approaches a mobilization plan. The army-navy board, headed by Richard H. Dupree, kept its customer silence, and Nelson was not in Washington although he set up an office here this week, in the Federal Reserve Building.

In broad outline, this is the aim of the standby program, which some have reported will come to $2,000,000,000 in costs.

1. To insure that machinery for making key munitions is kept in a government pool, or stored and cared for in the war plants when the plants are sold to private industry.

2. To devise legal means of "keeping a string on" the plants and equipment, especially those producing materials and parts not originally used in peacetime industry.

3. If necessary, to keep a military production line ready for use even in plants which otherwise have been reconverted to peace.

4. To select such plants geographically so that the whole program will provide a strategic network of war industry.

5. To decide what funds will be needed by the army and navy to maintain the network, to recommend needed legislation, and to work rapidly and in close cooperation with the war assests administration, in order to prevent needed plants from being sold as surplus before the government has tied on its "strings."

Officials generally do not believe it will be necessary, for instance, to keep a tank running now and then down a separate assembly line in an automobile factory; the main thing, they say, is to have the machinery in readiness at or near the plant where it was used in wartime, and to see that highly strategic plants are not so remodeled as to make them useless for military production.

DEATHS

MILLEDGE C. CHESHIRE

BASTROP, Sept. 14.—(Special)—Milledge Carlton Cheshire, 65, of 522 South Elm street, succumbed Friday to a heart attack. Mr. Cheshire had been in poor health for the past several months following a paralytic stroke last January.

Born in Morehouse parish July 30, 1881, Mr. Cheshire subsequently served as deputy sheriff for the past twenty years, and was employed as a millwright from 1941 until his retirement nine months ago.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Naff Cheshire; two sons, John F. Cheshire, Bastrop, and Curtis Cheshire, Oakland, Cal.; three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Wimbish, Monroe, Mrs. Oscar Ridernour, St. Mary's Ga., and Mrs. Dewey Hart, Bastrop; two brothers, P. W. Cheshire, Bastrop, and W. E. Cheshire, Mer Rouge; four grandsons and one granddaughter.

Funeral services will be held 4 p. m. Sunday at the Bastrop First Methodist church under the direction of the Rev. Jolly B. Harper. Interment will follow in Christ cemetery. Pallbearers will be Carl Seamann, Ernest G. Mallotte, W. H. Todd, Jr., J. Fred Carpester, Sr., Pete Jeane and Baynard Turpin.

MISS PATSIE WILSON

Funeral services for Miss Patsie Wilson, 30, West Monroe, who died early Thursday afternoon in a local sanitorium, were held yesterday morning at St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe with Father Adalbert Smetana officiating. Interment followed in Halsey Cemetery under direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Miss Wilson is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mollie Wilson, West Monroe; and two sisters, Mrs. L. D. Roper and Miss Betty Jo Wilson, both of West Monroe.

Pallbearers were L. D. Roper, James D. Gilbert, John E. Gilbert, D. L. Roper, B. B. Roark, and Tony Cohorn.

JAMES R. CARROLL

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 14.—(Special)—James R. Carroll, of the Carter Oil Co., in Tulsa, former employe of the Standard Oil Co. in Shreveport, La., for 20 years, died in a hospital here. The funeral and interment took place in Tulsa.

He was a native of Shreveport where he was educated and was married.

He leaves his wife; one son, Jimmy; one daughter, Nancy Gail and three sisters: Mrs. W. J. Vinson, Monroe; Mrs. J. R. Dedmon, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. T. C. Wheat, Texarkana, Tex., and nieces and nephews as follows: Mrs. A. J. Flint, Bastrop; Mrs. R. M. Baker, Dallas; Mrs. Burt Carol, West Monroe; J. M. Reoighney, Jr., West Monroe and D. W. Reighney, West Monroe.

JUDY LORRAINE PLATT

Judy Lorraine Platt, 16-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Platt, died at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., according to information received here yesterday, and the body is being returned to Monroe for last rites.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by two sisters, Barbara and Gloria Platt. Mrs. A. M. Worthey, Monroe, is a grandmother, and another grandmother lives in Charleston, S. C

The body will arrive here tonight, but funeral arrangements had not been completed late last night. Mulhearn Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

MRS. CORA JONES DARK

Mrs. Cora Jones Dark, 70, Winnsboro, died in a Monroe hospital yesterday afternoon following a long illness.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Boeuf River Baptist church with the Rev. Tom Ratcliff, pastor, officiating with the assistance of the Rev. J. H. Hamilton. Ferriday. Interment will take place in Ogden Cemetery under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

Mrs. Dark is survived by her husband, R. L. Dark; two sons, P. L. Dark, Winnsboro, and Carl M. Dark, Columbia; six daughters, Mrs. W. I. Simon, and Mrs. Della Ross, Fort Necessity; Mrs. Glen R. Knight, Tuscon, Ariz.; Mrs. S. C. Ferguson, Clayton; Mrs. V. C. McGraw, Shreveport, and Mrs. L. H. Young, Ferriday; and two brothers, A. M. Jones, Houston, Tex., and R. D. Jones, Winnfield.

GREECE PLAGUED BY NEW VIOLENCE

ATHENS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—New violence, including the slaying of one British soldier and the wounding of another, plagued Greece today as military courts sentenced two persons to death under the drastic emergency powers invoked by the government in its attempt to quell alleged Leftist-inspired disorders.

British military authorities said that bandits, dressed in uniform of the Greek gendarmerie, ambushed five British soldiers in a truck, killing one and wounding aother with machine gun fire.

The British said, however, that they did not consider the atack as directed "primarily" against them. It was believed that the bandits were lying in wait for the head of the Greek gendarmerie, who had been expected along the road at that time.

In Salonika a military court sentenced two Greeks to death, one for throwing a grenade into a private dwelling and the other for possession of explosives. A railway bridge near Karditza in that area was blown up yesterday and traffic halted between the Sally and Volos.

The military court at Salonika also sentenced the editor and four assistants of the Leftist newspaper Laiki Foni to jail for publishing an article criticizing the establishment of the courts. The editor was given a five year term and each of the assistants three year terms. The newspaper was suspended for a year.

K. OF C. DRIVE IS OPENED HERE

Fine Response Reported After First Few Days Of Campaign For Home

The campaign for funds with which to build a new home for the Knights of Columbus lodge here was given added impetus late last week when more than 100 members started solicitations, according to H. A. Shanas, chairman of the drive.

"We have had a fine response so far and every indication is that we will continue to have the support of the public, with the result that our organization, which has enjoyed remarkable growth during the past few years, will gain its objective," Mr. Shanas said.

An enthusiastic meeting of K. of C. members was held Thursday night, at which time all of those present pledged their wholehearted support to the campaign. The principal address was delivered by Father Arsenies, pastor of St. Paschal's church in West Monroe. Mr. Shanas made a short talk outlining the objectives of the drive.

As a climax to the campaign, a station wagon will be awarded to a contributor on Nov. 21. Other events are being planned to stimulate interest in the drive.

The chairman said that the results of the first few days of the campaign indicated that it will be a complete success.

L. B. FAULK POST MEETS ON MONDAY

The L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, will meet at the memorial home in Forsythe Park, Monday at 8 p. m. The meeting will be the first one to be held since last month as the Labor Day meeting was cancelled because of the holiday. Accordingly considerable business has accumulated and a busy session is anticipated Monday night.

There will be initiations, reports rendered, and the membership campaign will be mapped out. This will close as usual on Armistice Day, November 11.

All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Tea leaves are plucked from a plant every seven or eight days.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Miss Frances Perkins, who was labor secretary all through the Roosevelt administration, has now been named a civil service commissioner by President Truman.

There are three commissioners. The other two are men. They run the government's vast civil service system with its more than 2,280,000 employes.

This makes the 64-year-old Miss Perkins the No. 1 woman in the Truman administration just as she was in the Roosevelt administration. Mr. Roosevelt made her labor secretary in 1933.

But this, for her, will be a quieter job than the labor spot. There she was criticised often by men labor leaders who kept talking about the need for a man as labor secretary.

(It so happened that she got out before the great strikes of the past year broke. Nothing like that had happened during her time as labor secretary. But the problems weren't the same then.)

As a civil service commissioner Miss Perkins will be the only woman in government who reports, directly to the president.

(As labor secretary, and therefore a member of the cabinet, Miss Perkins used to report directly to Mr. Roosevelt.)

Here's the story on the civil service commissioners and what they do:

Congress created the civil service system in 1883, to be headed by three commissioners.

Two were to be of the same political party as the president who appointed them. One was to be of the opposition party. The present three commissioners are:

1. Harry B. Mitchell, Montana Democrat, and one-time publisher. He was appointed by President Roosevelt.
2. Miss Perkins, another Democrat.
3. Arthur S. Flemming, a Republican, of Washington, D. C. He, too, was appointed by President Roosevelt.

Each receives a salary of $10,000. There is no time limit on their appointment. When a new president goes into the White House they all offer their resignations.

He can accept them and appoint new commissioners, or let them stay, provided two of them are members of his political party.

Miss Helen Gardener, who was made a commissioner in 1920 and died in 1925, was the first woman member of the commission. She was succeeded by Miss Jessie Dell who resigned in 1933.

Miss Lucill F. McMillin succeeded Miss Dell in 1933 and resigned the first of this month. Miss Perkins succeeds her.

The commissioners meet every morning at 10 o'clock, discuss their problems, plan their policies.

Their job, as mentioned, is to run the civil service system, which means getting new workers for the government and handling the problems which arise among so many people.

Any civil service employe who feels that he has been unjustly dealt with can appeal to the three-member commission for a review of his case, and a decision.

Miss Perkins, like the other commissioners, will have a lot of dealings with the heads of other government agencies.

And she'll probably have to spend a lot of time with representatives of women's organizations which are interested in the problems of women working for the government.

CAUTION URGED FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

With the opening of school on Monday the Monroe police department, Chief J. D. Busby said, is asking the coorporation of parents and automobile drivers in protecting the lives of the school children.

The children's thoughts will be primarily on what they are going to do at school, and what games they are going to play, Chief Busby said. Parents are asked to caution their children on how to cross streets, and above all not to get of buses and run across the street before looking for moving automobiles and trucks.

Goiter trouble is caused by malfunctioning of the thyroid gland in the neck.

NEW BUS ROUTE

Effective Monday, September 16, a new bus service will be afforded riders of North Sixth St., Forsythe Ave., Highland Park, DeSiard Road, Junior College, and Cole (Crescent Bend) Addition.

Schedules:

Loop Road bus will leave Paramount Theatre at 6:10 A. M., go up Third St. to Washington, thence to Sixth St., on out to Highland Park. Leave Highland Park at 6:30, return to Liggett's Drug Store, then on out the College Ave. route.

College Ave. bus will depart in front of Liggett's Drug Store at 6:10 A. M., go out DeSiard to College Ave., then to Webster St. It will leave Webster at 6:30, go down McGuire to DeSiard and return to Paramount Theatre, then on out Loop Road route.

These buses will run on a forty (40) minute schedule.

members returned to their jobs, crossing C. I. O. barriers. Officials of the A. F. of L. sailor unions had said their men would respect the C. I. O. lines.

William Rentz, port agent for the A. F. of L. Searfarers International Union in Baltimore, said A. F. of L. members would respect the C. I. O. pickets "for the time being."

Paul Hall, New York port agent of the A. F. of L. Sailors Union of the Pacific and the S. I. U., said as the A. F. of L. groups ended their strike Friday night that S. U. P.-S. I. U. men would honor the C. I. O. lines.

In Washington, government officials said they were informed that the C. I. O. unions were asking for the same wage scales granted A. F. of L. men but final settlement was delayed by an attempt by Vincent J. Malone of the West Coast Firemen's Union (Independent) to reduce the spread between East and West Coast scales. The firemen's union is associated with six C. I. O. unions in the committee for maritime unity.

Termination of the A. F. of L. walkout resulted from Economic Stabilizer John R. Steelman's order amending Wage Stabilization Board regulations, permitting government agencies to pay the same wage scale as private operators.

The move permitted raising the $17.50 monthly increase approved for A. F. of L. seamen by the WSB to $22.50 for West Coast A. F. of L. mariners and $27.50 for East Coast A. F. of L. workers.

The higher figures had been agreed upon by the A. F. of L. and ship owners some time ago but was turned down by the WSB, precipitating the strike.

The N. M. U., which had won a $17.50 wage boost, struck yesterday to back up demands for "parity" with the A. F. of L. mariners. The C. I. O. Marine Cooks and Stewards and the Marine Firemen, Oilers, Wipers and Watertenders, an independent organization, joined the walkout.

N. M. U. President Joseph Curran, whose union claims 90,000 members, said the strike had the support of 200,000 members of the six C. I. O. and one independent union in the committee for maritime unity.

In New Yory City a group of some 30 A. F. of L. longshoremen walked through a N. M. U. picket line at one pier. There was no disturbance. About 200 men at the same pier, however, refused to return to work, despite a plea from Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ryan told the men there was "no need for a picket line" and termed the N. M. U. a "C. I. O. Commy group." He added:

"They know they're going to get the same raises * * *. They're just trying to pretend they're getting something for the men, something that was won by the A. F. of L. unions."

The A. F. of L. longshoremen who crossed the picket line carried hand luggage of passengers debarking from the liner Washington, first such service since the strike began.

Together they carried the bodies to the car, crammed them in the trunk compartment. Then Anderson took James home. Continuing, he drove to Woodland, in nearby Yolo county and on a side road east of the city dumped his father's body beside a creek.

Hours of driving followed, as Anderson wandered aimlessly about the area. Finally, near Oroville, he dumped his step-mother's body on a rock pile outside the city.

Then he returned home, arising the next day to cash three checks totaling nearly $300. Subsequently he, James and the Hodge girl left for Texas.

appropriated for the re-channeling and straightening of the Tensas River, Bayou Macon, Big-Colewa Creek, Beouf River and Bayou LaFourche, streams which drain eleven delta parishes of Northeast Louisiana and four Southeast Arkansas counties is unknown, stated Chairman Fourmy. "Our flood control funds are bound to be reduced as a result of the president's order, and may be eliminated entirely," Fourmy stated. "Mr. Steelman's order declaring a moratorium on all flood control for a 56-day period ending October 1 is unjustified delay, whereas the president's order is sheer obstruction," Fourmy asserted.

The resolution adopted at Friday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce flood control committee follows:

WHEREAS, on August 2, 1946, President Truman directed the secretary of war to limit flood control expenditures during the current 1947 fiscal year to 95 million dollars and in the 1948 fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1947, to 110 million dollars, and

WHEREAS, contract commitments already made by the army engineers far exceed the current fiscal year ceiling which, if the president insists on maintaining it, will leave 300 million dollars in unusued flood control and rivers and harbors funds at the end of the fiscal year, and

WHEREAS, the appropriations for these flood control funds were provided for in appropriation bills passed by both Houses of Congress which were signed by the president, and

WHEREAS, President Truman gave as his justifications for this unprecedented and unwarranted action to necessity for checking "inflationary trends," and

WHEREAS, this drastic reduction of flood control expenditures by President Truman will certainly drastically reduce and may entirely eliminate funds appropriated for flood control in Northeast Louisiana in the rechanneling and straightening of the major streams draining this area, including Bayou Macon, Tensas River, Big-Colewa Creek, Beour River and Lafourche Bayou, and

WHEREAS, this Northeast Louisiana flood control and drainage work is badly needed and will contribute immediately to the economic well-being of this entire area. Now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the flood control and drainage committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe that

(1) We deplore the action of President Truman in his unwarranted and unjustified and, in our opinion illegal, arbitrary action in ordering a reduction in expenditures for flood control which have been approved by Congress and signed by the president.

(2) We urge and insist that the purported reason the president gave for his actions in reducing flood control expenditures to reduce "inflationary trends" is without foundation and is not justification for this drastic and unprecedented action.

(3) We call upon all citizens of Monroe, West Monroe and Northeast Louisiana to write vigorous letters of protest to the White House against this unjustified action by the president in reducing flood control expenditures, because the president's restraining order is obstructive and represents a quasi-political gamble with the vagaries of nature and disastrous floods, and it is the responsibility of the president alone for this action, and is open defiance and contrary to the expressed will of Congress.

(4) We call upon leading citizens of Northeast Louisiana who are interested in flood control to attend a meeting in New Orleans, arranged by Senators McKellar, of Tennessee, and Overton, of Louisiana, on September 20, to organize and formulate a program to bring about a reversal of the order by President Truman to withhold authorized flood control expenditures during 1947-48.

(5) Congressman-Elect Otto E. Passman, of the Fifth Congressional District, be and is hereby respectfully requested to attend this important meeting and lend his support to the efforts and purposes of this meeting.

(6) Copies of this resolution be submitted to the press for public information. Passed unanimously by the flood control and drainage committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe, La., September 13, 1946.

L. U. FOURMY, Chairman.

Copies of this resolution were mailed yesterday to every member of all Police Juries of all Northeast Louisiana parishes by A. E. Montgomery, president of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury urging that protests of the delaying order be sent to President Truman and that each Police Jury send representatives to the September 20 meeting in New Orleans.

In attendance at the chamber's flood control and drainage committee Friday were: L. Underwood Fourmy, chairman; J. B. Foster, Kenneth Elliott, P. A. Colvin, Assistant County Agent Norman Davis and George D. Holland. Other members of the committee are: John Birdsong, John Coon, J. J. Joyce, M. D. Swayze, T. C. Standifer, Tom Hicks and A. E. Montgomery.

All members of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury will attend the New Orleans meeting, according to President A. E. Montgomery, of the Police Jury.

ed as yet with either the president or Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, a delegation spokesman said.

Vandenberg said in his statement that Americans who deserved the "united American front" on foreign policy jeopardized the twin goals of organized peace and collective security. He called for continuation of bi-partisan policy "which is neither hostile nor subservient to any other power on earth."

No comment was forthcoming from Byrnes himself, but it was learned he had not been consulted in advance on Wallace's Thursday speech in New York in which the secretary of commerce denounced any "get tough with Russia" policy and demanded American abstention from close cooperation with "imperialist" Britain.

Delegation spokesmen declined to confirm or deny reports Byrnes had spoken by telephone with the president during the night. Besieged for a statement of Byrnes' attitude toward the speech, a spokesman replied "it's entirely up to Washington to straighten it out."

unloaded the ships, said the A. F. L. Seamens International Union pickets had left the sheds when his men started unloading and that the National Maritime Union pickets of the C. I. O. came on the scene after the work started.

Ryan said another banana boat was scheduled for unloading this afternoon, but that he had ordered the carriers off "until we get definite instructions from international headquarters."

C. I. O. officials said that about 2,500 members of the C. I. O. are on strike in the port here, under yesterday's call, while A. F. L. officials estimated that about 50,000 A. F. L. workers are affected by the picketing.

ever, left in existence the fact that he apparently has on his hands a cabinet split between his secretary of commerce and his secretary of state over relations with Russia.

The news conference exchange to which Mr. Truman referred arose when William H. Mylander of the Minneapolis Star Journal and Tribune called his attention to these words in the Wallace address:

"Just two days ago when President Truman read these words, he said they represented the policy of his administration."

The president replied that was correct.

"My question is," Mylander pursued the point, "does it apply just to that paragraph or to the whole speech?"

Mr. Truman said he had approved the whole speech.

At that point Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post Dispatch came in with this:

"Mr. President, do you regard the Wallace speech as a departure from the Byrnes policy?"

The president said he did not.

"—Toward Russia?" the questioner persisted.

The chief executive answered that he considered the speech and policy exactly in line.

Today's statement was issued after Mr. Truman had conferred with Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, the directing head of the state department in the absence of Byrnes. Clayton subsequently had no comment on it but presumably concurred in the president's handling of the matter since he had been fully consulted on it.

In Paris, Byrnes kept his silence although the American peace conference delegation which he heads issued a statement by Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, calling for unity in American foreign policy and saying that "rightly or wrongly, Paris is doubtful of this unity this morning."

city. Two discarded city buses had one of the long sides slashed off and then moved to the site, each vehicle extending the long way of the lot with a wide space between each. The center vacant space between the buses was filled in by a long room immediately joining the buses so that the whole project comprised a single housing unit. Each bus formed a room when seats were removed and with abundance of windows of the original vehicle, made well-lighted bedrooms. One has only to view the unique result to realize what American ingenuity is able to fashion!

STATE UNIVERSITY WON'T BE CLOSED

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Louisiana State University, whose opening this year has hung in the balance for the past two days because of the danger of infantile paralysis, will not be closed, Dr. David E. Brown, assistant state health officer, said today.

"Unless something unforeseen happens," Dr. Brown said, "registration will continue."

The assistant state health officer said that the situation was not as bad as it had appeared "since three of the last four cases believed to have been poliomyelitis turned out to be something else."

He described the number of polio cases in Louisiana as being on the downgrade.

Registration began Thursday at L. S. U. and several thousand students have gathered here for enrollment and the beginning of classes on Wednesday.

The decision to allow L. S. U. to stay open, Dr. Brown declared, was reached after he had consulted with the East Baton Rouge parish health unit's advisory council and other health authorities here.

Only change in the university's plans, he said, will be in delaying the opening of L. S. U.'s laboratory school for children from Thursday until the following Monday, when all parish schools are scheduled to begin.

Since the first of the year, East Baton Rouge parish has had 32 confirmed cases of infantile paralysis, three of them fatal.

Dr. Brown said that the last two cases reported here would be credited to Calcasieu parish, since both patients were from Lake Charles.

One of them, sent to the Polio Clinic at New Orleans, has proved not to be infantile paralysis, while no check has been received on the second, who returned to Lake Charles. Both were girls who planned to enroll as freshmen this year, Dr. Brown said.

ASTHMA SPASMS
Liberal Supply Free

The development by French chemists of a palliative formula for easing the difficulty in coughing and breathing caused by spasms of Bronchial Asthma brought such striking results that its fame quickly spread over Europe. Now introduced in the United States as Bel-Din. This preparation contains the same active ingredients and aids as a palliative to ease gasping, choking and the feeling of suffocation that oftentimes accompanies Bronchial Asthma. Caution: Use only as directed. The Montrose Sales Co., Inc., Dept. N-601, Montrose, Calif., is anxious that all sufferers from Bronchial Asthma Spasms try this preparation. They will send a liberal supply Free to anyone who writes them. If you wish, you may send 10c to cover mailing and handling. Send for it today. (Adv.)

DODGERS FIGHT BACK TO SLICE CARDINAL LEAD TO HALF-GAME

Ralph Branca Silences Red Bird Bats With 3 Hits To Win, 5 To 0

By Jack Hand

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Leo Durocher got away with one of the most colossal gambles in recent years today when Ralph Branca, an obscure bull pen tosser, who hadn't pitched a complete game all season, shut out the St. Louis Cardinals in the most important game of the season, 5-0, to reduce the Red Birds' first place margin over Brooklyn to one half-game, or one skinny percentage point.

Before the "rubber" game of the "series-of-the-year", Durocher had told reporters he was going to use Branca to pitch to one hitter and then shift to Lefty Vic Lombardi, after Eddie Dyer of the Cards had committed himself to a surplus of left handed hitters in his batting order.

According to the pre-game script Branca was to come up with a "sore arm" after the first pitch and give way to the southpaw, but he got the first man out on the first pitch, retired the second on another fling and had the Cards out on six tosses.

That changed the Durocher strategy plan and Branca was left in to shut the door in the faces of the wounded Birds. It was only the eighth time in 22 meetings that the Brooks had beaten St. Louis this season, but this victory, coming in their final meeting of the campaign, may have been the pay-off.

Leaving for New York and a Sunday double header with the Giants while the Dodgers prepared to entertain Chicago in two games, St. Louis had only 13 tilts to play, eight of them on the road. Of the Brooks' 16 remaining contests, 13 will be played in the friendly confines of Ebbetts

FOX HUNTERS WILL MEET NEXT MONTH

RUSTON, La., Sept. 14.—(Special)—The Louisiana State Fox Hunters' Association holds its annual field trial and bench show October 15 through 18 at Driscoll mountains, ten miles south of Arcadia.

The bench show will open the event on October 15, beginning at 8 p. m.

The field trials will be held the following three days with the hounds to be cast each morning at daybreak.

A special program will be held the night of October 16, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, with J. V. McConnell, superintendent of conservation and wildlife of the state, to deliver the principal address. The Rev. Tom Roberts, Farmerville, and other prominent speakers will also take part. Music for this occasion will be supplied by the Louisiana Tech band.

The bench show judge will be E. I. Newblock, Tulsa, Okla., noted authority on hounds and horses; and the master of hounds will be T. W. Maddux, Hazelhurst, Miss.

Officers of the fox hunters' association are Felix Simington, Ruston, president; A. H. Riser, Ruston, secretary and treasurer; Dick West, Leesville, first vice president; and L. L. Carroll, Bossier City, second vice president. Members of the program committee are L. L. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Smith, C. H. Ford, O. E. Barton, and Paul B. Means.

MONROE ALL-STARS MEET HODGE TODAY

The Monroe All-Stars open a three-state tournament for the Negro semi-pro baseball championship of Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi against the Black Wa-Ha's of Hodge here this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Casino Park.

Hodge holds two close victories over the locals this season, but Manager Joe Gulley last night expressed confidence his All-Stars can beat the visitors in "a game that counts."

The contest will be a benefit affair, with proceeds to be used toward installing lights for night games here.

Other teams in the tournament to be played during the next few weeks are Shreveport and the Hardwood Sports of Ferriday in Louisiana; Port Gibson, Jackson, Canton and Greenwood in Mississippi, and Crossett and Pine Bluff in Arkansas.

SMALLWOOD BACK IN NEVILLE CAMP

Arrives In Time To Replace Injured Smith; Tigers Open With Minden

John Smith, slated for the quarterback slot on the Neville High School football team, went out of action this week with a cracked elbow, but Coach Bill Ruple heaved a sigh of relief when "Stoney" Smallwood flew in from California to move into the spot.

Smallwood, fullback on last year's Tiger eleven, moved with his family to California at the close of the season, but a week ago Coach Ruple was advised that the Smallwoods were returning to Monroe.

When "Stoney" came in by plane yesterday, the Tiger mentor had reason to feel relieved.

The injury suffered by Smith will keep him sidelined for at least six weeks, Ruple said, and the big job right now is to try to get Smallwood ready, if possible, to go into action in the season opener against the Minden High School eleven next Friday night at Minden.

Smallwood appeared in good condition upon his arrival here yesterday, but still needs lots of work before he'll be ready to go.

Vasco Tefas, up-and-coming little left halfback, is showing great improvement, and Coach Ruple expects to use him plenty against the Crimson Wave Friday although he may not get the starting assignment.

Ronald Gunter and "Buster" Stevens have also been looking good in Tiger drills the past week along with Tackles Rudy Bedgood and Harry Pribble.

MULLOY, TALBERT BEAT SWEDISH TENNIS STARS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's Davis Cup doubles team of Gardnar Mulloy and Billy Talbert defeated the Swedish pair today, 3-6, 9-7, 3-6, 6-0, 8-6, and put the U. S. forces in the challenge round for the huge international tennis trophy for the 28th time in 35 years.

Lennart Bergelin and Torsten Johansson, who each lost a singles match yesterday, were turned back today and their defeat made tomorrow's two remaining singles duels a meaningless formality. A crowd of 2,500 watched the matches at Forest Hills Stadium.

Officers of the Monroe Bowling Association were elected as follows:

W. L. Rothermel, president; Walter Cash, first vice-president; E. B. Peddy, second vice-president; J. H. Mallery, third vice-president; M. L. Snapp, fourth vice-president; and J. C. Holloway, secretary and treasurer. Executive committee members are H. H. Holmes, Chester Gossett, R. S. Johnson and T. G. Stockwell.

Plans are already underway for the holding of the local group's first tournament.

Also, the past week, a team of Shreveport keglers invaded Snappy Bowling Lanes here to knock off an all-star Monroe team, 4 to 1, the locals winning only the first game of the series. For the five-game series, Shrveport rolled 4,820 to Monroe's 4,532.

The sharpshooting of George Booth, Shreveport, featured the meet, and he was high scorer with single game marks of 192, 196, 216, 258 and 218 for a total of 1,080. H. H. Holmes rolled best for the locals with 222, 182, 164, 169 and 210 for 947.

In addition to Holmes the Monroe team included J. C. Holloway, "Casey" Jones, R. S. Johnson, E. B. Peddy and M. L. Sharp. Rolling for Shreveport were Booth, editor of the Tri-State Bowlers News; W. M. Batt, secretary of the Shreveport Bowling Association; O. R. Butler, secretary of the Shreveport Classic League; Ray Needham, who represented Shreveport at the 1946 all-star matches in Chicago; and B. D. Ilgenfritz, president of the Louisiana State Bowling Association.

M'WILLIAMS READY TO JOIN MAROONS

MERIDIAN, Miss., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Thomas (Shorty) McWilliams, muscular football star over whom West Point and Mississippi State recently staged a verbal tug o'war, was to enroll at the latter school today.

McWilliams arrived here by plane yesterday, looked around the airport a moment and said: "Home—thank goodness."

Later, he said:

"They didn't treat me so good at West Point after my resignation was accepted."

The folks in Meridian apparently felt differently about McWilliams quitting the Army to play football at Mississippi State. Last night he was honor guest at a dance. He made second-string all-America with State in 1944 and around here he's quite a guy. His friends range from Governor Thomas Bailey to the janitors at the college.

The triple threat back, who first made a name for himself playing for the local high school, said that a knee injury which has bothered him since 1944, is now unnoticeable, and that he is ready to roll for his alma mater.

His resignation from the military academy was accepted only several days ago, despite the fact he first submitted it August 1, McWilliams said.

BISHOP BEATS QUICK IN NATIONAL AMATEUR

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Stanley Eugene (Ted) Bishop, a lanky, Lincolnesque oil salesman of Dedham, Mass., won the National Amateur Golf championship at Baltusrol today when Smiley Quick, the Public Links king from Inglewood, Calif., missed a three-foot putt on the 37th green.

While a gallery estimated at 6,000 held its collective breath, the squat little man from the coast stroked the biggest putt of his life, and saw it go inside the rim of the cup and come out and roll to rest inches away. It was the end of about as gallant a fight as golf ever saw.

Bishop won the hole and the championship with a birdie four, the third time in the course of today's gruelling play-off that he had shot Baltusrol's 478-yard first hole in four. Just before Quick missed the putt that decided the title, Bishop had curled the winner in from four feet.

It settled the first extra-hole final in the amateur championship since 1936, when Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati went to the 37th to vanquish Jock McLean of Scotland.

M'Duffie Making Himself Record As Marine Boxer

Buck McDuffie, former Neville High School student, is distinguishing himself as a boxer with the U. S. marines at Parris Island, S. C., according to reports received here.

McDuffie, son of Mrs. G. W. McDuffie, 509 K street, is going at such a clip that most of his bouts fail to go the full distance. He has been undefeated since turning to boxing with the marines following his enlistment last March.

One report was:

"The special event between Buck McDuffie, 153, Monroe, La., and Bill Brickle, 155, Columbia, S. C., showed a very good bout . . . McDuffie hit Brickle with everything he had . . . McDuffie had Brickle almost out on his feet by the end of the second . . . he kept up his show of murder all during the stanza and knocked him out of the ring once during the melee . . . Buck did easily take the decision."

Then another:

"The second half of the windup was between the veteran Buck McDuffie, 153, Monroe, La., and Robert Spencer, 152, Chicago, Ill., . . . Spencer proved to be fast and shifty and was able to keep away from McDuffie's smashing rights . . . McDuffie began to find the range in the second round and Spencer went down for the count of nine . . . Spencer returned in the third and looked as though he might make a great comeback . . . but during the flurry of blows he left himself unguarded and McDuffie took advantage, he caught Spencer with a sledgehammer right and at the bell Spencer was being counted out."

McDuffie was a member of the Neville football squad a couple of seasons, and also served the Tigers as a team manager. He was employed as a carrier salesman and in the News-Star-World mailing room before his enlistment.

UNIMPORTANT EXTRA POINT

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—Out of 421 football games played since the sport was inaugurated at the University of Alabama in 1892, the Crimson Tide has never lost a game by the margin of an extra point. Only three of Alabama 296 victories have resulted from a successful point after touchdown.

TIGERS TROUNCE YANKEES, 7 TO 4

Hank Greenberg Hits Two Homers And 3-Run Double In Rout Of Bombers

DETROIT, Sept. 14. —(AP)— Hank Greenberg, the Detroit Tigers' 35-year old slugger, went on a one-man batting binge against the New York Yankees today, belting a three-run double and two homers to drive in every run the Tigers scored in their 7 to 4 victory.

Greenberg, who hiked his runs-batted-in total to 107 for the year, now has 36 home runs, two less than Boston's Ted Williams, who leads the league with 38.

PELICANS PREPARE FOR TROJAN SCRAP

The Loulsiana Training Institute Pelicans open their football season next Friday night against Tallaulah, defending district Class B champs, in the season's first conference Class B game of this district. The game will be played at Tallulah, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The Pelicans have only one letterman, Tackle Elmo LeVasseur, back from last year, but the Trojans will be able to field thirteen lettermen, including two returned war veterans who played with Tallulah in 1944.

Best of the Trojan gridders loom as Bill Kellar, all-state end; Harold Ogden, all-north Louisiana fullback, and Bill Jones, classy 160-pound left halfback. Joe Halback, regular right tackle, will be out of the Tallulah lineup, however, because of a shoulder injury, according to Trojan Coach Devon Payne.

L. T. I. will go into action with a line averaging just 158 pounds per man, and a backfield averaging 141. Parker, heaviest of the backs, weighs 154. Demaree, Stockwell, and Bodin, the other three regulars, weigh in the 130s.

Coach Kermit Youngblood put the Pels through their first night drill Thursday night at Neville Stadium, and the team is shaping up mighty good despite its apparent weight shortage.

TOUGH AT HOME

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—Between Nov. 14, 1913, and Nov. 11, 1921, the University of Alabama won 30 straight football games on its home field without a defeat. The winning streak began with a 6-0 victory over Tennessee and ended with a 2-9 loss to Florida. The Crimson Tide then won 18 straight in Tuscaloosa before losing to Tennessee, 13-15, on Oct. 20, 1928.

Tribe Rests As Coach Scouts, But Hard Work Just Starting

N. J. C Indians Open Season With Merchant Marines On Sept. 27

Coach James L. Malone let his Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians rest yesterday while he was in Picayune, Miss., to "scout" the game between Pearl River Junior College and the U. S. Merchant Marines, but the Redskins can expect nothing but hard work this week when the Tribal mentor returns to begin whipping them into shape for their season opener with the Merchant Marines of Pass Christian here September 27.

After looking over the stock of gridders Malone has in the Indian camp, one is impressed with what looks like the greatest assortment of players ever to trod the soil at Brown Stadium, but its an impression that is being handed on from one football camp to another these days. While the Tribe looks stronger than ever, their opponents are bound to be looking the same. It is quite a contrast to a couple of years ago when grid talent was so scarce. Now the crop is so big, the coaches don't know what to do with what they've got.

The Merchant Marines gave the Indians a close contest last year, and can be counted on to come up as tough as ever this year.

Then Kilgore Junior College, Ole Miss "B" team, John McNeese Junior College, Copiah-Lincoln, Arkansas A. and M., and Arkansas Tech, all on the Indian schedule, are boasting of their finest turnouts, and from all indications the Tribe will have to be good to hurdle these teams this year.

All games will be played at home except the Kilgore scrap and one with McNeese who will play the Tribe twice again this fall.

Ends, tackles and guards came in for plenty of attention in Redskin workouts the past week.

Malone will be able to present three veteran ends, including Charles P. Moore, regular last year, and Gene Turner and John Woods, war vets, who played with the Tribe in 1942.

It'll be hard to choose starting tackles from such a quintet as Bob Robinson, regular last season; "Bud" Cain, freshman and war veteran who starred at Ouachita Parish High School before entering service; Paul Grimes, husky freshman; Martin Biddy, 260-pound war veteran and squadman from the Indians' '42 club; and J. P. Andress, outstanding tackle at El Dorado, Ark., High in 1943.

The stock of guards is just as good. Joe Bob Tyler, back from the '43 team, looms as a certain starter and just as surely the backbone of the forward wall. Then there's John Masenko, 195-pound freshman; Jim "Junior" Malone, Claude Brawner and Lee Dunaway, all good boys and freshmen.

Athlete's Foot Itch Now On Seasonal Rampage

The agonizing condition knows no favorites, rich and poor are being infected alike. There are said to be several types of the germ, which is so difficult to kill that it takes 20 minutes boiling to prevent re-infection from socks. Some medicines may kill one type of the germ, but not the others. For this reason many are forced to try this and that product for relief. H. F. Athlete's Foot Medicine contains several ingredients to combat several types of the germ on contact. That's why so many people feel so fortunate for happening to use it.

WHITE SOX INVADE WINNSBORO AGAIN

Clarks At Franklin Parish City Today For 4th Semi;Pro Loop Game

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 14.—(Special)—The Clarks White Sox come back to Winnsboro Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the fourth game of the North Louisiana League championship series.

Manager E. M. Steely's Sox have won two of the three games played and need only two more triumphs, if they can get them, to sew up the title. Winnsboro must win three to claim the crown.

The Sox took the opener, dropped the next to Winnsboro at Clarks last Sunday, and then came here to win again last Wednesday.

The fifth game of the series will be played Wednesday at Clarks, and if the series should be forced to go six games, the teams will return here next Sunday.

Manager Edgar Lowry is expected to send Ray Hoffman, ace righthander of the Winnsboro club, to the mound Sunday in an effort to square the series. The White Sox are expected to open up with "Dub" Nelson.

KALLIO HOPES TO HAVE TITLE BOUT

Promoter Gus Kallio last night was having difficulty lining up his wrestling card for next Thursday night, but he declared he expected to have the program arranged by Monday night.

Kallio said he was making an effort to get a match between Rex Mobley, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, and Jack "Stinger" Steele, the ex-champion of Sioux City, but so far had been unable to get Mobley for the match.

"Steele is all ready to go," Kallio said, "But I'm having trouble getting Mobley lined up. I hoped to match them in a championship bout, but I'll even consider promoting a non-title scrap if I can get Mobley."

Kallio pointed out that the difficulty in getting what he wanted for his Thursday show did not mean he would not have a card. "I'll have a show, but I won't know who'll be in it before Monday night."

ROUGH SCHEDULE FACES ENGINEERS

Georgia Tech Also Bothered By Serious Manpower Shortage

ATLANTA Sept. 14.—(AP)—Coach Bobby Dodd, begining his second year as head football coach at Georgia Tech, is faced with two problems that would discourage most any coach.

First is the schedule. Tech faces one of the toughest in history, with Tennessee, V.M.I., Ole Miss., L.S.U., Auburn, Duke, Navy, Tulane, Furman and Georgia coming in that order. The Jackets may win from Furman and V.M.I., but Ole Miss, Auburn and Tulane will have to be shown.

To overcome such giants as Tennessee, L.S.U., Duke, Navy and Georgia is a really tough assignment.

The number two problem is manpower. Things looked rosy when boys like Dewitt Coulter, Phil Tinsley, Bill Chambers, Jack Helms, Henry Walker, Jack Jordan, Red Eaves, Ned Cummings and Maurice Furchgott were buzzing around. Coulter, Tinsley and Walker carried All-American ratings while Chambers and Helms had won all-conference honors. Jack Jordan was a regular in 1942 and seemed headed for a great season, as did Ned Cummings. But Coulter withdrew to enter pro football, Tinsley and Chambers were dropped from the squad because of their questioned eligibility under the transfer rule. Walker decided on Clemson and Helms, Jordan, Cummings and Furchott abandoned the game.

Frank Broyles, a great passer, a good punter and a superb field general who had been voted the most valuable player in the conference in 1944. Tuesday of this week came out of scrimmage with an injured shoulder which will keep him out of the line-up for several weeks.

Other key men who are losing practice time due to injuries include Jimmy Castleberry, starting end; George Brodnax, end; Jim Still, quarterback; Charles Brembs, halfback, and Ed Scharschwerdt, fullback.

WORK UNDERWAY ON BOXING ARENA

Work on the Illinois Central Service Club's boxing arena got underway the past week, and Curtis Johnson, club president, last night said the first amateur fistic card to be promoted by his organization would be held here the first Monday in October.

Five good amateur fighters have already signed up for the local team, it was announced, and any other boys desiring to compete, join the club on visits to other clubs, and possibly take part in sectional and national A. A. U. tournaments are urged to turn in their names, ages, weights and past experience, if any, at the Illinois Central ticket office.

A Negro team is also being organized, it was said, and Negro youths desiring to display their fistic prowess are also being asked to register. The promoters pointed out, however, that they would conduct no mixed bouts.

PHOTOGRAPHER BEATEN AT FOOTBALL CONTEST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Associated Press Photographer Allen Snipes was beaten and his $250 camera was smashed last night by a group of army officers as the photographer attempted to take a picture of a free-for-all fight at a football game.

The fight occurred on the playing field at Crump Stadium after Oklahoma City University's 27-0 victory over the Air Transport Command.

Snipes said he approached one of several fighting groups on the field and prepared to take a photo. A lieutenant colonel of the army air forces, he said, warned him not to take the picture. When Snipes ignored the warning, he said, the lieutenant colonel and three other air force officers attacked him.

The photographer said he was knocked to the ground and kicked. He lost his wrist-watch and his camera was smashed in the melee which left his clothing disarrayed and grimy.

Snipes reported that fist-fights broke out among the football fans frequently during the game and on one occasion the band played the national anthem to restore order.

The altercation involving the photographer, however, occurred after the game as the fans were departing. Snipes, who won the purple heart while more than four years in the army, said he was unable to obtain the names of his assailants but would seek to identify them. He added that he would prosecute them.

NEW 10-MILE RECORD

HELSINKI, Sept. 14. —(AP)— Viljo Heino, Finland's outstanding long distance runner, bettered the world's record for 10 miles today by stepping the distance in 49:22.2 minutes. Paavo Nurmi, the Flying Finn, set the listed standard of 50:15 in 1928.

MINIATURE TRACK WILL OPEN TODAY

Model Racers Go Into Action Here This Afternoon At Lakeside Club

The Louisiana Minature Race Car Car Club at Monroe officially opens its new speedway at the old Lakeside Country Club in the northern section of the city this afternoon with distinguished visitors on hand to race their minature machines against these of local club members.

The cars will be racing between 2 and 6 p. m., and the public is invited to attend the show free of charge.

"Because this is a hobby and sport for the pure entertainment, there will be no charge whatever to persons desiring to see these little speed demons in action," Fran Brennan, local club official said last night.

Two Indianapolis, Ind., minature car racers, Herb Sudderth and Joseph Clender, arrived here by plane late yesterday, and they will be on hand to demonstrate their own machines at today's races.

Prior to the races, members of the Louisiana Midget Race Car Club here and any other interested persons are invited to attend a meeting this morning at 11 o'clock at 515 Ouachita avenue, at which time Sudderth and Clender will explain construction and operation of the cars used in the fast-growing minature car field today.

Clender has won numerous trophies in competitive races throughout the nation and collaborated in the designing of the proto-type model race cars used so widely at this time. He also was the first to speed one of his proto-type cars over the 100 miles per hour mark.

JOE LOUIS TAPERING OFF FOR MAURIELLO BATTLE

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Sept. 14. —(AP)—Joe Louis, who defends his heavyweight boxing title against Tami Mauriello in Yankee Stadium Wednesday took one round to warm up today then cut loose and battered a trio of spar mates in succession.

The champion, who weighed 210 after the workout, started slowly against Perk Daniels but opened up against George Fitch, Teddy Randolph and Eldridge Eatman. Each was in the ring with the Bomber for only a round.

Louis, who now has boxed 49 rounds, will go four more frames tomorrow and a like number Monday.

OLE MISS REBELS PREP FOR KENTUCKY OPENER

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Heavily staffed with rookie talent, the University of Mississippi Rebels make their first bid for a win under new Coach Red Drew next Saturday and the new coach isn't too optimistic over what's at hand.

The red and blue team goes after Kentucky in Lexington one week from tonight in a game, incidentally, that lifts the lid off the current Southeastern Conference title race.

Neither outfit is given much of a chance to get into the SEC's upper division but Kentucky generally is rated over the Rebels and Drew isn't too sure the railbirds aren't right.

He was anything but optimistic this afternooon following Ole Miss' final heavy pre-season scrimmage drill.

"The team has plenty of snap and hustle," he said. "They'll go after Kentucky. The only thing I'm afraid they're too inexperienced to make it stick."

Drew has been grooming Charley Conerly and Clayton Blount for much of the Rebels offensive burden. They're left halfbacks and will draw considerable help from fullbacks Jenk Jenkins and Buddy Bowen.

Conerly, Jenkins, Pep Bennett and Farley Salmen make up the Rebel backfield. The first team line has Ray Poole and H. A. Smith at ends, Bill Erickson and Oliver Poole at tackles, Bernard Blackwell and Fred Brown at guards and Paul Davis at center.

The squad will hit one more scrimmage drill, will work through Wednesday and entrain Thursday for Lexington.

CITY SOFTBALL PLAYERS TO HAVE SOCIAL MONDAY

A social for all players who participated in the City and Senior Softball Leagues for men and boys and also in the Recreation Girls' Softball League the past summer will be held tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Monroe Recreation Center, Director Jack Hesketh said.

A floor show is being arranged by Mrs. Myers and Mrs. R. H. Dollar with Ada Beth Dollar, Ann Rizzo, Pat Young, Betty Pettie, and Mrs. B. B. Martin participating.

O. N. McNeil, softball commissioner for the city's various leagues, and Bill Goldsmith will also be present to make the trophy presentations. The trophies are donated by Kaliski Jewelery Company.

Refreshments will be served, and all players may have as their guests their boy friends, girl friends, husbands or wives as the case may be.

Waxed woodwork cuts down cleaning. Rub spots that are handled often with a thin coat of liquid wax.

FRNKA UNDECIDED ON TOP PLAYERS

Hoyt Moncrief Making Bid As Fullback For Green Wave This Year

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—(Special)—Coach Henry Frnka of Tulane University was scratching his head today, as he sought to pare his squad of 110 men down to game-size.

With scarcely two weeks separating the Wave from Alabama's Crimson Tide, Frnka still is undecided upon his starting selections and in some instances on just who will and who won't be on the Tulane bench when Frank Thomas and company put in an appearance.

But from all appearances, there'll be an excellent representation of veterans of World War II from end to end in the line and quarter to tailback in the backfield.

Covering the outstanding prospects at the present, here's how the situation stands by positions:

At ends Frnka has Ken Tarzetti of DeLiles, Miss., and Ray Olsen, Arthur Porter and Emile O'Brien, all of New Orleans, in the contending spots. All are war veterans.

Possible tackles include Vic Klein of New Orleans, Leroy Schneider of Baltimore, Md., Jay Rowland of Hot Springs, Ark., and Bill Hornick of La-Belle, Pa., also veterans.

For guards, a pair of three-year lettermen, Gaston Bourgeois of Lutcher, La., and Elliott Igleheart of Shelbyville, Ky., both left over from last season, are being given a close race by a pair of veterans, Mike Balen of Sawyerville, Ill., and Ed Deramee of Thibodaux, La., the latter captain of Navy's team last year.

Five men are locked in a free-for-all battle at center and all are veterans. These include Lawrence Rice of Gulfport, Miss., Charles Block of Gary, Ind., Olton Hebert of New Iberia, La., and Dan Kirschenheuter and Stanley Kotteman, both of New Orleans.

Principal contenders at blocking back include Leonard Finley of New Orleans, Julian Brignac of Lutcher, La., and Richard Nutt of Marshall, Tex., all veterans.

For tailbacks, two-year letterman Ray Arthur of New Orleans is a holdover from last year and Cliff Van Meter of Henryetta, Okla., a freshman, hold the spotlight so far. But close contenders include ex-servicemen Bennie Ellender of Sulphur, La., Jim Keeton of Enid, Okla., O. J. Key of New Orleans, and Foster White of Shreveport, La.

Principal wingbacks are Marvin McCain, a two-year letterman hold-over from New Orleans, plus veterans Ed Price and Alfred Waller of New Orleans, Richard Hoot of Swarthmore, Pa., Joe Chavez of San Francisco, Calif., and Herbert Schene of McAlister, Okla.

For fullbacks, Frnka is undecided between Hoyt Moncrief of Monroe, La., Johnny Sims of Delhi, La., Bob James of New Orleans and Orval Baker of Pocatello, Idaho, all veterans.

In brief, among the leading prospects for positions on the 1946 Tulane Green Wave, only five are non-service men.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., Sept. 14.—(AP) —If Smiley Quick, the people's choice of the National Amateur Golf Tournament, should win the title today, a lot of folks are wondering what they'll do about the next Walker Cup team. . . . There never has been a public links golfer on the international team, and as a matter of fact none ever has shown the proper qualifications. . . . And it also is a well-known fact that many members of exclusive clubs are inclined to look down their noses at the common people who play golf just because they like the game and who pay a buck or two as they go—and that's Smiley all over. . . . Win or lose, Quick probably has done more to popularize golf with ordinary people than anyone who has come along in years. . . . He's the only player who has been in all three big tourneys—Publinks, Open and Amateur—and he's been at or near the top in all three. . . . He's got the kind of personality that has the gallery rooting for him.

Wonder?

After he dropped a shot right in the middle of Baltusrol's water hole—a 120-yard affair that even a duffer could kick the pill across—Quick was asked how come? . . . "Well," Smiley explained, "I had played four rounds with that ball and it needed washing." . . . So far nobody has had an explanation of the other two shots that went into the drink on the same hole yesterday.

Sports Before Your Eyes

One of the few players who had no complaint about the "sporting" draw that sent a lot of top-rank players against each other in the first round was Bob Babbish of Royal Oak, Mich. After being knocked out at the start Babbish opined that the only way to play a tournament was to take your opponents as they came along. . . . Syracuse U. is about to find out how come those Oklahoma A. and M. wrestling teams are so good. Syracuse has hired Joe McDaniel, three times national mat champion for the Aggies, as its wrestling coach. . . . Duke's football team, which hasn't had new uniforms in four years, may be the source of considerable confusion for the fans—especially that guy in section 23 who brought a bottle. The Blue Devils rounded about 30 good jerseys to start the season, but many of the numbers are duplicated and the press announcement may be: "Clark, No. 20, ran 40 yards when Milner, No. 20, threw the key block. . . ."

Week's Worst Gag

When he saw the line-up for today's amateur golf final — Public Links Champion Smiley Quick vs. New England Champion Ted Bishop—a press room wag suggested: "The story for tomorrow is 'the Quick and the Dedham.'"

End Of The Line

Golf Finalist Ted Bishop, who has been underweight ever since he was in the army, figures its inconsistent when Frank Stranahan lifts bar bells in his spare time, Dick Chapman does pushups and "here I am eating vitamins." . . . Villanova opens the football season today against the Merchant Marine Academy then meets Army and Navy in succession. . . . If the team licks all three, its nickname should be changed from "Wildcats" to "Confederates."

'BAMA PREPARES TO DIVIDE SQUAD

87 Crimson Tide Players To Be Split Into Varsity And 'B' Teams

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 14.—(Special)—With Alabama's opening game against Furman in Birmingham, Sept. 20, rapidly approaching, Crimson Tide coaches have a ticklish task before them in separating the 87-man squad into varsity and "B" outfits.

The presence of 36 lettermen from Alabama's 1942, '44 and '45 teams makes this job even more difficult and with several promising freshmen and a half dozen or so improved reserves from the 1942 and '45 squads, the 'Bama mentors are being doubly careful before passing judgment on an aspirant for one of the varsity squad berths.

Although ten of the 11 starters from last season's undefeated team are back, several of these performers will have a tough time holding onto their first string jobs if the ex-servicemen and freshmen continue to display the ability they have shown in early season workouts.

Slam-bang battles are shaping up for the starting berths at tackle, guard and fullback—with 1945 regulars back at each position. At left tackle, Tom Whitley, regular for the past two seasons and All-Southeastern Conference selection in 1945, has stiff competition from Charley Compton, 210-pound ex-infantryman who lettered as a sophomore in 1942. The right tackle berth is wide open, with three 1945 lettermen battling for the job. Dick Flowers and Nick Terlizzi, 200 pound sophomores, and Mike Cassidy, 195 pound junior, are the top candidates so far.

Another trio of lettermen—John Wozniak, John Staples and Jim Bush—are vying for the left guard spot, Wozniak and Bush lettered last season, while Staples is back from the 1942 squad following overseas service with the marines. At right guard, Jack Green and Bruno Filippini, 1945 lettermen, Steve Fortunato, 1945 reserve, and Ray Richeson, ex-serviceman from the 1941 squad, are engaged in a four-way scramble for the varsity job.

Fullback Norwood Hodges, 165 pound 1945 regular, and Fred Grant, who led the Southeastern Conference scorers as Hodges' understudy, again have the upper hand for the regular line-bucking job, but they will have to hustle to keep out in front of a pair of promising freshmen, L. W. "Red" Noonan, 195 pounder from Mobile, and Billy Cadenhead, 175 pound ace from Greenville, Miss., are two of the most talented freshman backs to turn up at Alabama during the past couple of years. Cadenhead was here for spring and summer workouts, but Noonan reported just in time to begin fall drills and has looked like the prize among the Tide's first-year performers.

FEW TIES AT HOME

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—The University of Alabama football team has played only one tie game in history on its home campus. This was a 7-7 deadlock with Howard College on Sept. 28, 1935.

TIP LARKIN STILL WELTER MASTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Wily Willie Joyce has his master's degree today for having learned his lessons well in the gentle art of boxing skill and science—but "Professor" Tippy Larkin, who taught him, still has the world junior welterweight championship, even if it is a bit mouldy from being laid up so long.

Teacher Tippy had to know only half as much as he did last night to whip Wily Willy in 12 rounds and retain the crown. If ever a student had his lessons taught to him the hard way, it was Wily Willy, for the Indiana Negro stylist was strictly in the kindergarten for boxing babies in Madison Square Garden last night when Professor Tippy started in to teach class.

Joyce's report card showed an "A" for effort, because he was in there trying all the way—actually was the aggressor. But Tippy handled him like junior handles a new set of electric trains. The Garfield, N. J., Italian fended off his rushes with a pair of guarding arms that were tougher to break through than the crust on stale rye bread.

Then, whenever things got a little hot for the Professor, he just pushed the gary galloped off, stepped in himself and belted away with both hands. And in the confusion, Willie blew nine out of 12 rounds.

BOSSIER NEXT ON OUACHITA SLATE

Bearcats Here Friday Night For Battle With O.P.H.S. Lions

If the Lions of Ouachita Parish High School thought they have a battle on their hands Friday night in scrapping to a 0-0 tie with the Homer Pelicans, then they can prepare now for another rugged scramble next Friday night when they meet the Bossier City Bearcats at Brown Field here at 8 o'clock.

Ouachita opened grid relations with Bossier City in 1942 and has been able to win only one of four games, claiming the victory last year, 26-7. One game, 1943, was a scoreless deadlock.

The Lions here Friday night couldn't get their offense to clicking, but Coaches Jim Hodgins and Herbert Holliman will see to it that their charges get down to harder work this week on their offensive blocking.

The Homer tie was not without its good points, however, and one of the best was probably the unveiling of slender Mark Boatright, 14-year-old Lion freshman, who looked mighty good in the passing department. He should furnish the lions a mighty good back in the following seasons, and another promising looking youngster was Eddie Moss.

Fay Duchesne, only veteran from last year's backfield, was confined chiefly to a blocking role, but what few times he carried the ball he looked good, especially on line bucks, and the longest gain by either team on the ground was an over-the-center plunge by Duchesne that went for 15 yards.

Fred Huenefeld showed possibilities of becoming one of Ouachita's better centers, and Tackles C. L. Wink and Marvin Dearman played good defensive games. In fact, the Lion defense was their strength against Homer with Ends Robert Kirby and Clyde "Sonny" Webb and Guards Quinn Becker and Clark Matkins in for their share of the tackles.

While Ouachita supporters may have felt the Homer game should have been in the bag and that the boys "let them down," the Lion football players on the other hand yesterday were pointing out that the "support" from their student body was "terrible."

"Where was our band," one gridder declared. "It was our home opener, and Homer had to furnish the between-the-halves activity."

And to back up the Ouachita football boys' complaint, Homer did have a good delegation of supporters present and turned out a 54-piece band that paraded between the halves. Many of the Ouachita faithful turnout, however, and the Lionettes, Cuachita girls' pep organization, formed what organized cheering section the Lions had in the stands.

BRAVES TRIP PIRATES

BOSTON, Sept. 14. —(AP)— Belting four Pittsburgh pitchers for 16 hits, the Braves tonight vanquished the Pirates 9-3 for pitcher Johnny Sain's 18th victory of the season before 6,077 chilled fans.

The victory moved the Braves within three games of the third place Chicago Cubs, who lost to Philadelphia.

Sain was master of the game except for the fourth inning when three hits and a walk accounted for the Bucs' three runs.

WILDCATS DEFEAT MEXICANS 12 TO 7

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Louisiana College defeated the University of Mexico football team 12-7 here tonight, but the Americans had to come from behind to do it.

Louisiana College cracked scoring ice in the first quarter when Back Packy McFarland intercepted a pass and romped 60 yards for a touchdown. Doug Keeth pitched the touchdown pass.

In the second quarter the Mexicans, outweighed some 10 pounds to the man, lashed back with a series of passes and running plays climaxed by Fullback Patino's 16-yard run around end to a touchdown. Cardone's conversion via place kick put the Mexicans out front by one point.

In the third quarter Louisiana College managed a 60-yard drive which featured Frank Cicero and Aubry on line bucks and a final 10-yard pass, Cicero to Edwards for a touchdown.

The fourth quarter was scoreless, the University of Mexico battling a heavier line to a standstill, holding tight when the Americans reached scoring territory.

Standout backs for Mexico City were Team Captain E. Herrera and R. Ibarro, and the brother combine of A. Cardone and H. Cardone.

The Mexican team made 172 yards from the line of scrimmage and Louisiana College 201 yards.

WOMAN GIVES UP RIVER BOAT LIFE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Olivia Thomas decided to give up life on the Mississippi here today and return to St. Louis.

Her home for the past three months—a former Mississippi river stern-wheel packet—toppled over on its side, half-submerged in the river and there really wasn't much left to do but head back to St. Louis, she said.

Mrs. Thomas was eating lunch aboard the two-decker pleasure boat when she felt it give a sudden and frightening lurch. The dishes fell and chairs overturned, and she screamed for help. Three ferry company workers brought her to safety and salvaged most of her belongings.

She wasn't sure why her boat sank but thinks it must have been sorely in need of certain repairs.

Mrs. Thomas said she had heard her parents speak so often of Louisiana and the river that she determined to come here to live on it. She had paid $5,500 for the craft and had no insurance on it, she said.

He parents were born in Louisiana.

ROBINSON QUITS AS ARKANSAS U. DEAN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Resignation of Dr. Byron L. Robinson as dean of the University of Arkansas School of Medicine at Little Rock and appointment of Dr. Henry Clay Chenault, Hot Springs, as his successor with the status of university vice-president was announced tonight by the university's trustees.

The announcement said Dr. Robinson, affiliated with the school 21 years, had resigned effective Oct. 1 but had agreed to remain with the school until the first of the year. Dr. Robinson, who came to the school as professor of anatomy in 1925, was named dean in 1941 to succeed Dr. S. C. Cromer.

(In Little Rock, Dr. Robinson said it had "been suggested" to him that "full support of the profession" for increased appropriation requests on the legislature would be forthcoming "if I resigned and a new dean was at the head of the school."

("You can't direct a school like the medical school for five years without making some enemies and encountering some criticism," Dr. Robinson said. "I did not want to stand in the way of the school's progress and, if my leaving meant full support for more funds before the legislature as was suggested, I was glad to resign.")

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market charted an irregular course today. After opening as much as 50 cents a bale lower textile mill buying and commission house covering were attracted, reversing the downward trend. Prices rose to gains of 15 cents to one dollar a bale with most of the demand centering in nearby October contracts. Demand was associated with prospects for expanding textile sales in the near future. Some of the buying also was attributed to spot merchants presumably covering export sales to Europe.

Futures closed 50 cents to $1.40 a bale higher.

CHICAGO—Wheat: Easier; profit-taking. Corn: Lower; good crop prospects. Oats: Lower with other grains. Hogs: Nominally steady. Cattle; Nominally steady.

JAILER FATALLY BEATEN BY NEGRO

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Injuries received yesterday morning when he was beaten about the head by an escaping prisoner proved fatal today to E. M. Reynolds, 65-year-old Stone county jailer.

Meantime the sheriff's office at Wiggins reported this morning that the Negro jailbreaker, 25-year-old Marvin Murray, was recaptured and transferred to the Hinds county jail at Jackson.

Reynolds died at 2:45 a. m. at the Methodist Hospital here.

He had been employed as jailer and janitor for about six years, the sheriff's office said. Sheriff W. T. Lott said Reynolds was found unconscious Friday morning in Murray's cell, where he had gone to feed the Negro.

RECKLESS DRIVING BRINGS 4 MISHAPS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Police booked a young man with reckless driving here today, charging the following offenses:

1. Sideswiping a taxicab.
2. Ramming into the rear of a police officer's motorcycle, causing injury to both the officer and the machine.
3. Hitting a parked automobile a "glancing blow."
4. Demolishing certain doorsteps.

REMARRIAGE MADE EASIER BY CHURCH

Protestant Episcopalians Turn Down Proposed Merger

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Protestant Episcopal Church today took steps to liberalize its laws on remarriage of divorced persons but turned down for at least three years a proposal to merge with the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The house of bishops, meeting at the 55th triennial general convention of the church, unanimously approved a resolution which would permit remarriage of any divorced church member at the discretion of the diocesan bishop or ecclesiastical court.

The action, which must be endorsed by the house of deputies which is made up of lay and clerical delegates, came after the bishops had rejected a report of its commission on matrimony submitting a liberalized canon.

This new recommendation differs from the original proposal in that it eliminates a national advisory council on marriage and leaves full discretion within each diocese.

Although endorsing the liberalization, the bishops pointed out that "marriage remains a physical, spiritual, and mystical union, created by mutual consent of heart, mind and will, and is in intention lifelong."

Presently, church law permits remarriage of divorced persons only when they are the innocent party in cases of adultery.

The house of deputies voted down 386-196 a resolution to submit the merger issue to individual congregations, many delegates declared that while they favored the union, they believed the merger plan too hastily prepared.

A joint commission on approaches to unity had submitted a seven-paragraph plan to the deputies but the body acted on only two sections, agreein to study the proposal for another three years before sending the matter to congregations.

The commission itself was continued for the three-year period during which it was requested to make further research and seek to eliminate some of the objections to the merger.

Most objections were that the commission plan did not fulfill requirements set forth in the lambeth quadrilateral, which in 1888 outlined a four point credo under which any merger of Anglican faiths must be effected.

The Lambeth statement says belief must be held in:

a) Both in the Old and New Testament; (b) the Apostles and the Nicene creeds as the sufficient statement of the Christian faith; (c) the sacraments of baptism and Holy Communion, and (d) the historic episcopate.

Quick Relief from Pile Irritation

40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment for relief from the itching and smarting of Piles. It brought such quick cooling, soothing, astringent relief that its fame spread throughout the country, and made Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist for a 35c box of Peterson's Ointment today, or 60c tube with applicator. Money back if you are not delighted with relief.—Adv.

MISS CRANDALL ARRIVES TODAY

Kay Crandall, recently appointed director of the Monroe Little Theatre, will arrive in Monroe Sunday evening by Delta Airlines, according to information received by Little Theatre officials.

Miss Crandall, who has been in Dallas, Tex., for a brief visit with her parents, will assume her duties here Monday with a scheduled meeting of the Little Theatre board. She resigned as assistant to Erwin Piscator, famed Europeon stage innovator and director of the Dramatic Workshop in New York, to accept the Monroe post.

In addition to her Little Theatre activities, Miss Crandall will offer classes in speech and acting, with instruction to commence Monday, September 22. She may be contacted at the Little Theatre, 1104 Third Street.

JACK ROBINSON HAS BUSY LIFE

Rev. Jack Robertson, former announcer over KMLB, and husband of Miss Mary Jeannette Ziegler of Monroe, has in times past recently "taken over" the fellowship chapel of WHAS broadcast station in Louisville, Ky. He graduated from the Southern Baptist Theological seminary in Louisville and has already accepted a call as pastor of the First Baptist church in Fredonia, Ky.

The Louisville (Ky.) Courier has the following to say about his radio work.

"One of the busiest men at WHAS will be introduced to that station's audience on Fellowship Chapel, Aug. O. The busy man is the Rev. Jack Robertson, who for several years has been producing most of the WHAS religious shows while he attended the University of Louisville and the Southern Baptist Theological seminary. Now he is through school and will soon leave WHAS to take charge of his own church.

"Fellowship Chapel, as all know, is the once-a-month program which has been given by Dr. C. W. Welch, of the Fourth Ave. Presbyterian church for the past 24 years. Dr. Welch is now taking a well-earned rest and Jack is now his substitute.

"During the past 10 years, while studying, Jack has had a full time job producing religious shows at WHAS and has been chaplain for several years at the Ky. Children's Home. He is father of two young daughters."

RECREATION WILL HAVE OWN BAND

The Monroe Recreation Center will sponsor a band, which will be known as the Monroe Recreation Band. Randolph Cannon, band leader at Neville High School, will be the leader of the band. Truman McCrea, Lowery Jefferson, Harvey Nelson, James Hewitt and Jack Drew are all behind this band and will be taking a leading part in the formation and also playing in the band. Any resident of the parish is elegible to become a member providing they are not already playing in a high school band.

There are many players who do not play after they leave high school and it is because of this that the band is being formed. Anyone interested in playing are asked to leave their name with Jack Hesketh at the Monroe Recreation Center, 115 Catalpa Street this week.

WOMAN CHASES INTRUDER IN MEAT-CLEAVER FIGHT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Ralph Wadleigh, 24-year-old New Orleans mother, awakened early today to find a man leaning over her baby's crip, grappled with the intruder in a knife tussle and then chased him from her apartment with a meat cleaver.

"I don't know where I got the strength to fight like that, but there just wasn't anything else to do," the young housewife said of her 15-minute battle with the unwelcome visitor.

Mrs. Wadleigh said the man appeared in her room while her husband, a welder, was away on a construction job in St. Joseph, La.

She said that when she saw the figure in the dim light of a blue night lamp she jumped from her bed, pushed aside with one hand the crib containing her 16-month-old baby, Luana, and shoved the man with the other hand.

Then, Mrs. Wadleigh said, the fight started. She grabbed a kitchen knife, which the man wrung from her. He started slashing at her with his pocket knife.

Continuing the fight, Mrs Wadleigh ran to the kitchen, obtained the meat cleaver and chased the man from the apartment.

Mrs. Wadleigh was treated at Charity Hospital for wrist lacerations and returned home. Police are looking for the intruder, a man about 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighing about 135 pounds.

School Days Are Here Once More

Each Day Witnesses The Departure Of Girls For Colleges And Universities

First day of school! The thought brings a flood of childhood memories swinging in on the tide of years. It's the great adventure—the youngster's battleground where he faces alone new obstacles, new triumphs and new friends. Looking back through the years we can all remember how we looked forward to the first day of school with a mixture of reluctance, fear and as well as eagerness and excitement.

Tomorrow classrooms will buzz and palpitate with excitement and effervescent little people will stand on the momentous threshold of lessons, and homework and studying, failures, defeats, victories, quarrels and tragedies. The day will be brimming with excitement yet etched with poignancy as in many homes it means the beginning of a new life for the babies of yesterday.

Mothers accompaning their youngsters to school for the first time will recall their own school days. How well they will remember the clangor of the bell, the classrooms with their yellow, varnished desks and folding seats, the long, bare blackboard ready with new chalk and erasers. The flight of time as another year rolled around and there was a new teacher, another classroom, more difficult studies and then the day of graduation and the first year of college.

Perhaps the greatest exodus for colleges and universities in the history of this city is now taking place. Students are leaving daily, many to enter upon their first year and others to finish their college careers. It is quite impossible to list all the departures but the following names have been submitted for publication: Betsy Ann Greene, Martha Pritchard, Patsy Sager, Patsy Harbuck, Evelyn Ganaway and Margaret Watson, Texas State College for Women; Anne Crandall, Bell Haven College, Mississippi; Betty Sue Shotwell, Mary Baldwin College; Joy Harper, Mary Alice Jackson, Cleta Godfrey, Rhoda Kellogg, Sophie Newcomb College; Cherry Bernstein, Randolph Macon College; Gwen Walker, Ward Belmont; Arabella Bancroft and Carol Layton, Hockaday School for Girls, Dallas, Tex.; Billie Frances Blazier and Elna Christian, Northwestern State College, Natchitoches; Ida Sophie Davidson and Jackie James, Stephens College, Missouri.

The largest representation from Monroe will be at the Louisiana State University. The following names have been submitted: Jean Smith, Mary Sue Smith, Lee Slagle, Betty Hale, Angylyn Swift, Evelyn Middleton, June Lewis, Louise Tisdale, Dorothy Anne Mitchell, Sally Foster, Miriam Oliver, Patsy Snelling, Roberta Steele, Gail Stewart, Minnie Madden, Sara Terzia, Marilyn Rosenberg, Jo Ann Biedenharn, Ann Humphries, Gregor Thompson, Gene Smith, Mary Helen Walker, Charlotte Padgett, Fay Todd, Lucile Mosley, Betty Roddy, Jane Kilpatrick, Mary Alice Mickel, Rosemary Dawson Mink, Billie Frances Blazier Dawson Mink.

Last week the Yo-Wo-Ca Business Girls' Club executive board, composed of Mrs. Fannie Humphries, president; Miss Helen Hayes, vice-president; Miss Johnetta Sisson, secretary; Miss Floy Weems, treasurer; Mrs. W. J. Veazey, sponsor; and Miss Bess Sharp, "Y" adviser ,met to discuss the plans and activities for the work of the Yo-Wo-Ca Club. Miss Helen Hayes, chairman, of the program committee, announced that Mr. Leon Hammonds would be the program guest for the next club meeting on September 18. The group decided that this meeting would be a special membership meeting for the purpose of welcoming former members back to the club and for getting new members for the group. Each club member is to bring a guest. One of the ideas that was accepted by the group was that there be a "Suggestion Box" in which the club members could put their suggestions regarding club programs projects and socials. Mrs. Veazey, sponsor of the club, discussed some of the plans of the group for the year.

CEREMONY CHARACTERIZED BY BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF INTEREST TO MONROE FRIENDS

A wedding characterized by beauty and simplicity took place in the Methodist church in Raleigh, Miss., when Miss Zelda Moss, formerly of Monroe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Moss became the bride of Mr. Marion Hargrove of Minden, La. The Rev. Otho Brantley performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The church was decorated in green and white exemplifying the traditional bridal colors. Masses of ferns and palms arranged before an altar banked with southern smilax formed a beautiful setting for the white gladioli, asters and clematis on princess baskets and the tiers of softly glowing slender white tapers in cathedral candelabra. White satin ribbons and sprays of ferns and flowering clematis marked the pews for the families. The candles were lighted by Lamar Moss, nephew of the bride, and Robert Murrah Mayo, who also served as ushers.

As the guests assembled Mrs. Holmes Tulles rendered a lovely program of nuptial music. Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. Seth Granberry of Forest, Miss., sang "At Dawning" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Miss Mary Mack Coursey, violinist, played "Ave Maria", "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Alice Ruth Hargrove, niece of the groom and Miss Mary Alice Moss, niece of the bride. They wore identical models of blue and pink embroidered marquisette with floor length satin sashes. Their dresses were fashioned with a round yoke giving a drop shouldered effect. Their colonial bouquets with pale pink roses and blue and white asters formed a lovely contrast.

Tate Hargrove of Newellton, La., brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride was a vision of loveliness as she entered on the arm of her brother, Joseph Hershel Moss. Her beautiful wedding gown of traditional white silk embroidered marquisette was fashioned with a scalloped basque bodice and was made with a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore hand made mitts of bridal illusion which formed into calla lily points over her hands. A bouffant skirt over taffeta trailed down the sides growing into a short train. The finger-tip veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of hand made roses cut of self material. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

The bride's bouquet was a shower arrangement of white carnations and bride's roses tied with white satin ribbons.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moss. The reception suite was decorated with summer flowers and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Moss and members of the wedding party received the guests. The dining table overlaid with a cut work linen cloth was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake.

After the reception the bride changed for an original model, a green gabardine suit, with which she wore smoke white accessories. Her corsage was off white carnations and tuberoses. After a short honeymoon trip, the couple will be at home at 212 West Union street, Minden, La.

Members of Ruth Bible Class of the First Baptist church held their monthly social at the church Thursday night at 7 o'clock. Hostess and co-hostess were: Doris Guinn, Claudine Cotton, Evenly Knight and Beatrice Worley.

A delicious buffet supper was served. Reverend L. T. Hastings and Mr. Field gave interesting talks. Derry Barton gave a reading on "When The Preacher Calls."

Mrs. Fay Walker, teacher of the class, introduced all the officers.

Those enjoying the social hour were: Helen Blanchard, Beatrice Worley, Jonnie Butler, Evelyn Knight, Ann Branch, Derry Barton, Doris Guinn, Newata Parnell, Dorothy Greer, Lorena Elliott, Jo Cannon, Marie Wilhite, Marion Crawford, Opal Golson, Florence Foster, Claudine Cotton, Lois Smith, Katie R. Braley, Leda Bates, Martha Goldsberry, Peggy Mason, Era Osterland, Dorothy Shipp, Novie Kern, Mary Kidwell, and Fay Walker.

Guests were: Rev. and Mrs. L. T. Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Fields, Irene Reid, and Oma Foster.

Visiting The Old Plantations In South Louisiana Proves To Be The Ideal Vacation

The poignant story of the Louisiana river plantations recounted by Harnett Kane in his book, "Plantation Parade," prompted Mrs. Gordon Surguine and her two sons, Frank and Gordon Surguine, Jr., to spend their vacation motoring in South Louisiana and visiting the white-pillared mansions of yesterday.

They motored along the lower Mississippi in that section between Baton Rouge and New Orleans where sugar and cotton plantations arose in splendor. Today many of the ante-bellum places are still standing in varying stages of decay. Many of the descendants of the pioneer families are still living in Louisiana and, no doubt, with nostalgia look back to the old days when grand-pere's forebears ruled mighty empires.

Mrs. Surguine is familiar with the interesting stories of plantation life in South Louisiana recounted by her mother, Mrs. Frank McCormick, the former May Keller, whose grandparents came from North Carolina and settled in South Louisiana. A few of the old plantations owned by various branches of the family are among the show places, namely, "The Shades," in East Feliciana parish. Relatives of Mrs. McCormick's also live at "Old Hickory," where Mrs. Surguine and sons spent several pleasant hours last week.

According to Mrs. Surguine a motor trip in South Louisiana visiting the mansions of yesterday is the ideal way to spend a vacation, if one's time is limited. Even though the old plantations are bowing to the ravages of the elements an atmosphere of former splendor still lingers.

Delta Sigma Fraternity Dance Highlights The Season's Social Activities

Brilliant Event On Frances Terrace

Fraternity Men Hosts At One Of The Most Beautiful Events Of The Season

Members of the local chapter of Delta Sigma fraternity quite distinguished themselves as royal hosts when they entertained with one of the most brilliant social events of the season on the terrace of the Frances Hotel. It was a dancing party and characterized by many beautiful details including season on the terrace of the Frances hotel. It was a dancing party and characterized by many beautiful details including spectacular lighting effects. The dimming of the electrics with Delta Sigma insignia blazing forth over the orchestra balcony was one of the most distinctive features of the evening's program.

The grand march was led by Peyton Parker and Miss Lydia Jarman. Mr. Parker substituted for the fraternity president who was out of the city.

Miss Marguerite Lamkin, fraternity sweetheart, and Miss Betty Hale, who served during the year as Miss Delta Sigma, were charming figures in exquisite evening models and holding in their arms sheaves of American Beauty roses presented to them by fraternity members. The fraternity mother, Mrs. Pauline McCrary, was another charming figure on this occasion. She also carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses, a gift from the fraternity.

The two sponsors, Miss Betty Jo Scoggin and Miss Jo Ann Severence, were out of town and unable to be present.

Bobby Joe Walker, the incoming president, took a bow at this time.

Prominent figures on the ballroom floor were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Slater of Fort Smith, Ark., the newly appointed vice-president of district three from Gamma Gamma Chi chapter. Mr. Edward McGee, newly appointed commissioner from Alpha Kappa chapter in Hot Springs, Ark.. Mr. Wayne Boozman, director of public welfare, and Mr. Denny Shackleford, deputy commissioner of district three, were also prominent figures.

Several Delta Sigma fraternity members from Alpha Gamma chapter, El Dorado, Ark., were also in attendance. They were: Donald Wood, Elver Bass, Jr., Arnold Pener, Billy Murphy, Bobby Gilliam, Billy Bingham, Alvin Wren, Bert Adams and W. L. Green.

A pleasant interval before the dance was the conversational hour at Lakeside Country Club for the purpose of introducing the visitors from out of town.

During intermission the E. T. Lamkin home on Park avenue was thrown open to fraternity members and their "dates" and the out-of-town guests. Miss Marguerite Lamkin, hostess, was assisted by her parents in extending the gracious courtesies. A variety of confections were served in the dining room from a beautifully appointed, candlelit and flower banked table.

The evening's pleasures climaxed with a late supper served at Lakeside Country Club following the dance.

The hosts of the evening and their dates were:

Henry Guerriero, Jr., and Miss June Lewis, Harvey Aden and Miss Martha Prichard, Donald Johnson and Miss Dorothy Addison, Louis Craig and Miss Marguerite Lamkin, Graham Hughes and Miss Norn Marie Lennon, Toby Bancroft and Miss Libby Butler, Roy Hicks and Miss Tommy Sue Eaves, George Lester and Miss Gene Gentry, Bud Marx and Miss Polly Jean Phelps, Aylmer Montgomery, Jr., and Miss Felicia Mallet, Peyton Parker and Miss Lydia Jarman, Charles Reid and Miss Sue Madison, Gladden Walters and Miss Jeanette Hoyt, Harold Woods and Miss Billie Harper, Bobby Joe Wallace and Miss Anne Martin, Jimmy Pettit and Miss Mary Coates, Gordon Surguine and Miss Jean Roden, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Grigsby, Jackie Rubin and Miss Anglyn Swift, Dickie Pipes and Miss Beverly Thatcher, Bill Husted and Miss Louise Tisdale, Dillman Bernhardt and Miss Rhoda Kellogg, Louis Whitfield and Miss Jean Hemler, James Kepner and Miss Syble Cochell, Frank Surguine and Miss Jane Kilpatrick, George Holt and Miss Miriam Oliver, Jack Terzia and Miss Sally Foster, Manny Fulson and Miss Jean Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Meredith, James Mann and Miss Darline Neal, Mr. Aubrey Young and Mrs. Pauline McCrary.

Pledges and their dates attending the dance were: Speed Bancroft and Miss Frances Black, Dent Tisdale and Miss Mary Rodriguez, Frank Pettit and Miss Betty Pettit, Charles Swain and Miss Charlene Hill, and Barlow Inabnet.

Stags included: Johnny Johnson, Lynn Meredith, Mark Whitfield, Robert Jones, Ronald Cowden, Larry Tucker, Judge Davis, Donald Wadley, and Tommy Wilson.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Peggy McFarland, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Alexander, whose engagement to Mr. Don Kirby Lanier, son of Captain and Mrs. Wood Lanier, of this city, is announced today.

Leading Women Of World To Meet Together

It is evident that women in the post war world will outnumber men; and as educators and administrators they will hold tremendous power. Women want to live and bring up their children in peace. However, the majority of women throughout the world today do not understand how this can be accomplished. Hence, the proposed International Assembly of Women, which will bring the leading women of the world together to pool their knowledge so that they may familiarize and popularize the vital issues set forth in the United Nations charter, seems to be the first step in that direction. The Assembly will be held in October, 1946, in the country at the home of Mrs. Alice T. McLean, South Kortright, N. Y.

As the Assembly is to be a meeting of women leaders, it must necessarily be small—the delegates to be limited to two hundred. There will be presidents of American Womens' Organizations, several delegates at large and the foreign women—these foreign women having been chosen not as appointees from their governments but as leaders of women's organizations and other prominent women invited as individuals.

The program is to be built around political, economic and social problems, both on the national and international levels.

The program will be four topics:

1. What kind of a political world are we living in?
2. What kind of an economic world are we living in?
3. What kind of social order should we strive to achieve?
4. How may the ideas exchanged at the Assembly be applied for the benefit of communities, nations and the world?

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will serve as sponsor of the Assembly and Mrs. Alice T. McLean, general chairman. Sponsoring organizations are: 1. American Association of University Women. 8. American Legion Auxiliary. 3. American Medical Women's Association. 4. American Women's Voluntary Services. 5. Association of Junior Leagues of America. 6. Camp Fire Girls. 7. Congress of Women's Auxiliaries of the C. I. O. 8. General Federation of Women's Clubs. 9. Girl Scouts. 10. National Board of Y. W. C. A. of U. S. A. 11. National Congress of Parents and Teachers. 12. National Council of Jewish Women. 13. National Council of Negro Women. 14. National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. 15. National Home Demonstration Council. 16. National League Women Voters. 17. National Women's Conference of the American Ethical Union. 18. National Women's Trade Union League of America. 19. United Council of Church Women (in the process of formation).

The conclusions reached at the Assembly will be given wide publicity through the organizations and groups represented. The value of the Assembly from an educational standpoint will be intangible, but it is the only durable foundation on which to build political economic and social progress, international understanding and a peaceful world.

Mrs. J. H. Paylor, Sr., and son, Kermit, have returned home after a visit with relatives in Wichita Falls and Abilene, Tex.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY TAKES PLACE IN THE BEAUTIFUL GARDENS OF ENSMINGER HOME

The spacious garden of the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ensminger in Wisner was an idyllic setting for a most beautiful wedding when their only daughter, Edith Elizabeth, became the bride of Raymond Robert Shrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shrader of Freeland, Pa.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed 'neath a flower festooned arch with trellises of palmetto and southern smilax and burning tapers in tallwooden candelabra on either side. As Miss Elizabeth Landis played Debussy's "Clair de Lune," Miss Loyce Moore and Mrs. Dallas Batey, chilhood friends of the bride, lighted the tapers. They wore lovely gowns of white marquisette and carried old fashioned bouquets of pink carnations.

Miss Bell Brown sang by candlelight "Through the Years" by Vincent Youmans and "I Love Thee" by Edward Greig with Miss Landis as accompanist. Enchanting in a gown of aqua marquisette, the talented young vocalist stood near the edge of the ribbon-bound aisle leading to the improvised chancellory. As Miss Landis softly played Victor Herbert's "Ah, Sweet Mystery" the bridal party entered. The maid of honor, Miss Arlette Pool of Baton Rouge, and the bridesmaid, Miss Nell Brucnhaus, roommate of the bride at Louisiana State University, wore gowns of white marquisette and carried old-fashioned bouquets of pink, blue and white asters with backgrounds of green. Following was the flower girl, pretty little Robin Hammons, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammons of Wisner, also dressed in white marquisette.

As the strains of Lohengrin's traditional wedding march sounded, the bride, exquisitely lovely in her beautiful colonial wedding gown of white, entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a three-quarter length, three-sectional veil, falling from a coronet of pearls. She carried a rosary which belonged to her great-grandmother and is more than one hundred years old. Tuberoses were caught to the rosary, from which hung satin streamers.

During the ceremony Miss Landis played Schubert's "Ave Marie."

Best man was Mr. Francis R. Rodwig of Monroe. Groomsman was Mr. Robert Hammons of Monroe.

Miss Carol Earnest, suite-mate of the bride from New Iberia, presided over the bride's book.

Following the wedding a reception was held on the lawn. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of Irish linen and lace, draped with clematis and white gladioli. Miss Mary Stella Ward, of Gilbert, Loyce Moore and Mrs. M. P. Colson served mint punch from crystal bowls. Mints of green and white, heart shaped sandwiches and confections were served. The napkins of green and white were engraved in gold letters.

Ushers were all cousins of the bride, Misses Blanche and Nancy Ward of Gilbert and Miss Walter Mae Dalgran of Collinston.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Shrader left for Freeland, Pa. They will spend some time in the Ponoco mountains and in New York. This fall they will return to Louisiana State University where Mr. Shrader will continue his studies in psychology and Mrs. Shrader will work on her master's degree in music.

The entire dining room at Bakals was turned over to the Pickens-Album wedding party and members of the immediate family Thursday night when Miss Pickens' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Froug, of Little Rock, Ark., entertained with an elaborate four-course dinner.

The table, U-shaped, was serviced in silver and crystal with a long plaque of white asters reaching end to end of the table occupied by Miss Pickens and Dr. Album.

Asters of every rainbow hue overflowed from figurines placed at intervals along the tables on either side.

Miss Pickens, wearing a stunning brown crepe evening model, was the central figure in the group of friends and relatives. Champagne cocktails were served before dinner and throughout the serving of the four courses.

Breakfast Party Gracious Affair

Prenuptial Affair Of Distinction Given By Mr. And Mrs. D. L. Davidson

Eleven o'clock breakfast in the Cameo room of the Virginia Hotel with Mr a.nd Mrs. D. L. Davidson, host and hostess was a charming interlude claiming prominence among the many prenuptial courtesies honoring Miss Rose Marie Pickens and her fiance, Dr. N. B. Album, whose marriage will take place this evening at Temple B'Nai Israel. The reception following the ceremony will be held on the Virginia roof.

The informality of the occasion permitted the guests to gather in conservational groups and to toast the prospective bride and groom in champagne before breakfast was served.

The vivid colors of autumn were reflected in the floral theme of the beautifully-appointed breakfast table. Golden hued chrysanthemums and purple asters were arranged with supreme artistry for the central decor. At either end of the table silver epergnes overflowed with luscious fruits, suggestive of the harvest season. The placecards were novel and original—large oval mints with the pleasant greeting, "Good Morning," written across the surface.

A delicious three-course breakfast with broiled chicken the piece de resistance was served. Hot biscuits and marmalade were also served. Unusually delicious were the eclairs served as a dessert course.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson presented their honor guests with a box of brandied fruits.

Miss Pickens wore a smart early fall model of light gray with a corsage presented to her by her hostess.

Seated at the table, in addition to the host and hostess and their two guests of honor, were the wedding attendants and the out-of-town guests, including Miss Pickens' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Froug, of Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. Davidson was assisted in courtesies by her daughter, Miss Ida Sophie Davidson and her sister, Miss Regina Scherck.

HOSPITALITY IS EXTENDED BY MRS. JACK MASUR TO THE MEMBERS OF READER'S CLIQUE

Members of the Reader's Clique enjoyed the charming hospitality extended in the home of Mrs. Jack Masur, on Park Avenue, with the serving of delicious refreshments, following the program hour, included among the courtesies.

Mrs. Masur introduced Mrs. F. H. Peterson, who gave in a most interesting manner a review of "River Road," by Francis Parkinson Keyes. Mrs. Peterson said in part:

"'River Road' is a unique Louisiana story written about people and homes along the river road which connects the Capitol with the Crescent City. The author got her title while in New England. Late one October evening as she was driving along, she came to a fork in the road and she saw a sign covered by brambles. She stopped her car and walked over and pushed the growth away, the sign read 'River Road.' It came to her that 'River Road' would make a good title for a book, but at the time she didn't have a story. Some fifteen years later she came to Louisiana to write 'Crescent Carnival,' and found the real river road. She lived there two years while writing this story. Her description of sugar cane planting and sugar making makes the story truly authentic. Miss Keyes gives a list of real Louisiana people who helped her obtain the splendid information given in her book, she also mentions Governor and Mrs. James A. Noe, which is of particular interest to the people of Monroe.

"The story, 'River Road,' is built around Gervais d'Alvery and his family. It begins with his return as a World War I hero to Baton Rouge, his courtship, marriage, and full life with Meridith Randall, a Protestant girl, with little background, thus creating family disturbances, as his mother said, 'Meridith will be the only Protestant ever brought to live in Bell Heloise,' the ante-bellum home."

A short business session was held and members voted at this time to continue their project of repairing and reconditioning toys to be donated to the children at Christmas. Mrs. Ivy Jordan was appointed chairman of the toy committee. Mrs. Joe Bennett and Mrs. J. S. Harbuck were asked to serve with her. Mrs. Masur appointed Mrs. Sidney Gill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fred Parrish, scrap book chairman; Mrs. Stanley Archibald, telephone committee; Mrs. W. M. Ryland, Jr., and Mrs. T. F. Wilson, gift committee.

Mrs. Mike John, Jr., program chairman, read a list of suggested topics to be followed for the program this year, which were enthusiastically received by the members of the club. This will create a varied program for this year.

Mrs. Fred Parrish gave a report on the books that had been selected by the club members to be read during this year.

Immediately following the program, books were distributed to the members.

Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. E. W. Crowley, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Ray Updegraff.

Guests were: Mrs. F. H. Peterson, Mrs. Lasley Richardson and Mrs. J. E. New.

LITERARY CLUB WILL STUDY YOUTH AND THE COMMUNITY DURING THE COMING YEAR

"Youth And The Community" will be the subject of the interesting program arranged by members of the Monroe Literary club for the ensuing year. The year's work got off to a splendid start last week when the initial program was presented in the home of Mrs. S. E. Morris with Mrs. Guy DePriest, co-chairman and the president, Mrs. Morris, presiding.

Mrs. DePriest, club chairman, introduced Mrs. Victor Weber who spoke on "Salute To Youth." She said in part:

"The success or failure of the movement for the conservation of American youth depends upon many factors and, among these, not any is more important than the attitude with which we, as adults, approach young people. The surprising thing about the youth of our time is not that they are restless, rebellious, and delinquent but that in the face of all the demoralizing, depressing, and suppressing of all that stands for what is good and right, they are still so fine, so hopeful and eager. We, as adults, must understand this before we speak to youth.

The youth of today lives at a wholesome moment in human history, it is wholesome because this unrest in a fearless launching-out in search of a better freer world. Adults should recognize this and cope with it instead of spending precious moments bewailing the trend of the times and sitting idle while youth sets sail for its voyage. Why not sail with them? Youth is rejuvenating to the mature thought and maturity gives strength and guidance to inexperienced youth. We, as adults hold the keys which may either open the doors for youth or lock them in a dark chamber. As well as protecting and saving our civilization, they should be given a share in shaping it.

Conservation began as an attempt to stop the waste of our natural resources. We now see that our most precious resources are people not things. The same guiding principles may be applied to the program of the human sphere. These principles are: First; the need for facts and facts have no life of their own, they must be brought into action by persons; Second, the need of appropriate organization. This cannot be fixed or uniform, it must be diversified. Lastly, the need for resources. The community should be given a careful appraisal of its resources. It will be surprising to learn of the many institutions and agencies equipped with personnel and skills which might be readily put to the service of youth. Some of these agencies will welcome the challenge while others will have to be rescued from the functional rut.

We must now move ahead with speed. If we "sit without emotion, hope or aim" it is because we no longer know and feel the spirit of youth. Nothing would do more, now, to lift the nation out of its apathy than a healthy and exhuberant reassertion from youth."

The next speaker, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, spoke on "The Community and its Young People." She said in part: "Any community, your community, wants to do its best for its young people. In order to look ahead, to plan, and to act, one must know the facts. No matter where you may be, your community is almost certain to vary somewhat from the average. But we can start our train of thought by accepting the figures of statistics. About one person in six is between the age of 16 to 24 inclusive.

A few of the needs that are most outstanding in every community and ones in which we should feel deeply our responsibility if we want the assurance that tomorrow's America is safe in jobs, education, health, and recreation.

First where will youth find jobs? Again, as in many other phases of life, responsibility begins at home.

Somewhere in the community there should be an alert and dependable center providing an occupational adjustment service for all our youth.

Mrs. DePriest spoke on "Youth and the Community." She said, "What kind of people are these young people we are here to talk about. Let's take a good look at the coming generation. How does it differ from our generation? Well, for one thing, plenty of the youngsters now-days seem to run into trouble. We have never before had so many juveniles in the courts. Some of them are certainly running wild. Too much energy, that means—too much excess, unused, misdirected energy. Frankly, aren't you a little amazed at the knowledge these youngsters show about civic and world affairs? Did you ever hear them heckle a speaker who didn't get his facts straight or was evading giving a direct answer?

Behind all our talks let us bear one thing continually in mind. We are living in an age of revolutionary scientific developments that will change the whole structure of our lives. Will the coming generation be strong enough to hold this force in check, to direct it for mankinds good? That depends on the spiritual strength of the young people we are here to discuss and on youth-power, the hope of tomorrow!"

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Aubrey Boggs, Mrs. Ola Thompson. Members: Mrs. Wayne Benson, Mrs. Julius Chandler, Mrs. J. F. Choate, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. Guy DePriest, Mrs. L. B. Herron, Mrs. S. E. Holloway, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. R. M. Kettering, Mrs. C. E. McGee, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. B. F. Parnell, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. J. E. Shannon, Mrs. Victor Weber, Mrs. J. W. Womack.

Miss Pickett Is The Bride Of Fred J. Rinehart

In an impressive ceremony at the Lock Arbor Baptist Church, near Monroe, at 1 o'clock in the morning, Miss Catherine Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cudd B. Pickett, became the bride of Mr. Fred J. Rinehart, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Rinehart, of Toledo, O., with the pastor, Rev. W. R. Rogers, officiating.

The ceremony was performed in a setting of beautiful multi-colored dahlias.

A nuptial concert was rendered by Miss Jamie Smith. She also accompanied Miss Jo Ann Barron, who sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. W. D. Layton, of Jerome, Ark., served as matron of honor. She wore a white ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of peach gladioli. Miss Opal Pickett, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gold crepe model with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchid asters. The bridesmaid, Miss Leona Pickett, of Houston, Tex., cousin of the bride, wore a gray model with white accessories and a corsage of peach gladioli. Mrs. Cudd B. Pickett, mother of the bride, wore a light blue crepe model with a corsage of white carnations. The groom's parents were unable to be present.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Mr. W. D. Layton, of Jerome, Ark.

The bride wore a lovely street-length model of aqua crepe with a draped effect and accessories of black gabardine. Her corsage of amarillo lillies and tuberoses was worn at the waist. The bride followed the tradition of wearing something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. For something old and borrowed, she carried the handkerchief carried by the bridegroom's mother on her wedding day.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table in the dining room was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth. It was centrally adorned with a beautifully embossed tiered wedding cake. On each side were candelabra holding white tapers. At one end of the table frosted frappe was served from a large crystal bowl by Mrs. J. W. Thompson. Assisting in extending courtesies were Mrs. W. D. Layton and Miss Margie Ruth Hutton.

In an adjoining room were displayed the many lovely wedding gifts the couple had received.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, Northeast Junior College and Louisiana Tech in Ruston, where she received her degree. For the past four years she has been a member of the Bastrop East Side School faculty.

The bridegroom attended Ohio State University prior to his service with the American Red Cross. He was assistant field director of Selman Field for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart are spending their honeymoon in New York City. They will make their home in Baton Rouge, La.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Layton and Charles David Layton, of Jerome, Ark.; Miss Margie Ruth Hutton, of Camden, Ark.; Miss Denitia Wright, of Biloxi, Miss.; Miss Leona Pickett, of Houston, Tex., and many friends from Bastrop, Mer Rouge, Monroe and West Monroe.

Mrs. Robert Kahn of Indianapolis, Ind., is to visit in Monroe for a few days in the home of her mother, Mrs. Carrie Hyman.

Lovely Social Affairs Honor Young Couple

Friends are still discussing the many charming prenuptial courtesies planned for Miss Joan Boardman and Major Fred Peck during their engagement days. One affair in particular, surrounded with considerable beauty of detail took place in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Bancroft when they entertained members of the Boardman-Peck wedding party at supper following rehearsal at Grace Church.

Miss Boardman was a lovely figure in black velvet evening model with wide gold belt.

The table in the dining room was resplendant in silver and crystal and aglow with candlelight. The central floral theme was an oblong arrangement of pink asters. Silver trays held cold sliced turkey, molded salads, relishes and pastries. Supper was served buffet style.

Another affair honoring Miss Boardman was the tea in the home of Mrs. George Gunby. As customary, this charming hostess extended gracious courtesies assisted by her mother, Mrs W. H. deGraffenreid and Misses Cornelia McHenry, Miss Alice Brauer and Miss Beverly Handy.

The tea table was developed exclusively in silver with white flowers forming the central decor.

Mrs. Earl Naiden's supper party at the country home of her father, Mr. Allan Sholars and Mrs. Sholars, was still another outstanding event honoring Miss Boardman and Major Peck. Only members of the wedding party and relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Trousdale and Mr. and Mrs. James Trousdale entertained at breakfast at Bakals and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cretney entertained with a turkey dinner at their home.

CLEAN SILVER IN 10 SECONDS

In 10 seconds, DIPPO*—the miraculous new silver cleaner—makes dull, tarnished silver as clean as it was the day you got it.

There is no tiresome rubbing. Just dip silver like this.

Rinse under cold water and wipe dry.

Your silver will be as clean as it was the day you got it.

YES, DIPPO is far easier than cleaning silver by rubbing it. Dippo is safer, too. Independent laboratory tests prove that silver cleaned with Dippo lasts years longer than silver that has been rubbed with cream or liquid polishes. Don't wear yourself out, don't wear out your silver, by cleaning it the old-fashioned way! 69¢ box of 8 envelopes.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy . . . it helps keep the skin soft and pliable . . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Monroe Garden Club Meets

First Meeting Of The New Year Is Held In Ewing Home On Island Drive

A portentious meeting of the Monroe Garden Club, the first of the new year, in the beautiful home of Mrs. Wilson Ewing on Island Drive, hinted of a season of unprecedented activity. After a summer of inactivity the garden club members were eager to launch their year's program with the new president, Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, at the helm. Other officers serving during the ensuing year are: Mrs. Ewing, vice-president; Mrs. John Breard, second vice-president; Mrs. J. A. Gaines, treasurer, and Mrs. Roy Junod, secretary.

Members of the standing committees upon whom has been placed a great responsibility are: Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, publicity chairman; Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, roadside development chairman; Mrs. Stanley Blower, historian chairman; Mrs. David Garrett, membership chairman; Mrs. Charles Mitchell, public relations chairman; Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, program chairman; Mrs. John Breard, horticulture chairman.

Co-hostesses at the first meeting were: Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Mrs. Alan Guthrie, Mrs. A. R. Butler and Mrs. H. E. Downing.

A distinct feature of the meeting was the tea hour when Mrs. Ewing invited her guests into the dining room where Mrs. Gilbert Stovall presided over the handsome silver tea service placed at one end of the lace-covered table. Pastel colored asters arranged with great artistry formed the central floral decor. Mrs. Butler presided over the silver coffee service.

A variety of delicious confections were served by Mrs. Ewing, Mrs. Guthrie and Mrs. Downing.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell presided over the meeting and Mrs. A. G. McHenry served as secretary.

Year books were distributed and Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, program chairman, called attention to the high points.

The program was devoted to a talk on "Lilles," given by Mrs. D. F. Dennis. She said in part:

"Lilies have long been known as the garden aristocrats and their stately splendor richly deserve that name. Whether used as pot plants or as cut flowers they retain that same dignified beauty. There are hardy lilies for all parts of the garden, some not so hardy, but their outstanding grace and beauty add distinction to your garden picture well worth your special effort. Now is the time to dig and reset Easter lilies, if you plan to do so at all. Make a raised well-drained bed using generous amounts of leaf mold and well-rotted barnyard manure, also potash and bone meal, if available. Pine straw is the best mulch for them. Put coarse sand in the bottom of each hole where a bulb is to be placed. Water well. About five or six inches is deep enough to plant as you will want to add fertilizer and leaf mold and mulch on top any way. Each little scale on an Easter lily bulb will, if planted, make a new plant and bloom about the third year.

"If you wish to have Easter lilies blooming in September, put bulbs in the refrigerator now and plant in May. We have successfully done this. Do not destroy any of the roots on the bulbs. They are a root feeder is the reason they need not be planted so deep.

"The lovely Crinum lily blooms from early spring until late fall.

"All lilies I am discussing are not true lilies but we think of them as such, so I shall just pretend they are.

"Calla lilies should be planted in October and will bloom from February to May. We had them do this very successfully this year. Beds for all lilies should be prepared the same way as Easter lily beds. They must be well-drained or bulbs will rot. The early buds of Callas in February must be protected with a light covering. A southeastern exposure is best for most lilies.

"The different varieties and hybreds of the Amaryllis bloom from early spring until late fall. Amaryllis Bella Donna is blooming now, a lovely pink lily, suitable and used very much in corsages.

"The same lilies are called by so many different names that it is confusing in ordering to know whether or not you are getting what you want. For instance; The lovely and dainty pinkish orchid Amaryllis Halli is also known as 'Magic,' 'Ressurection,' 'Mystery' and 'Squamigera Lycoris.'

"The Red Spider lily or Guernsey lily, now blooming in most Monroe gardens, is a Lycoris Radiata. This lily may be planted any depth, in any soil, any location. This is also true of the Day lilies or Hemerocallis of which there are dozens of varieties, both day-blooming and night-blooming.

"The lovely Speciosum Rubrum white with pink dots and S. Album pure white have same bed preparation as Easter lilies but must be planted about twelve inches deep as they are so called root-feeders—that is—they get their nourishment through roots, put out on stem between the bulb and the surface of ground, and if not planted deep, they cannot do this. Do not dig too close or at all in lily bed as their roots often extend two or three feet.

"Ginger lilies—Butterfly, which bloom on top of stalk, a very fragrant butterfly-shaped flower. Pineapple—which comes up among foliage in shape of a pineapple. Lovely shades of orchid, pink and yellow in same flower. So called 'Ginger' because the root resembles closely the root of the ginger plant used commercially as our pulverized ginger.

"Plantation lily is more desirable for the foliage than the bloom.

"Agapanthas or Blue Lily of the Nile (generally seen in florists' shops) grows and blooms here well.

"Eucharis belongs to the Amaryllis family and has to be planted extra deep.

"Mosaic disease is the worst lily enemy and cannot even be seen with a microscope. The Tiger lily is a 'carrier' of this disease but never has it. Hence, do not plant Tiger lilies near other lilies.

"Do not move or disturb your speciosum and similar lilies for years—just keep adding humus and fertilizer on top."

Those present were: Mrs. L. R. Simpson, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Cecil Jarrell, Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. R. D. Whitecotton, Mrs. H. E. Downing, Mrs. Fred Fudicker, Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn, Mrs. A. R. Butler, Mrs. F. D. Pickens, Mrs. Gladys Sperry, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Vernon Maish, Mrs. Henry Guerriero, Mrs. W. E. Wilson, Mrs. B. Beasley, Mrs. D. F. Dennis, Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. J. R. Wooten, Mrs. George Snellings, Mrs. King Stubbs, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, Mrs. Stanley Blower, Mrs. J. W. Gaines and Mrs. Alymer Montgomery.

Bobashelas Book Club Begins A New Club Year

The Bobashelas Book Club began the new club year with a most interesting program in the club room of the West Monroe Library. Mrs. J. A. Wyatt was guest speaker and Miss Lallage Feazel modeled the beautiful new fall models exhibited by Mrs. Wyatt. Hostesses were Mrs. J. V. Russel and Mrs. Lester Waddell.

Mrs. Wyatt, realizing that a subject dear to every woman's heart is fashions, spoke on "The New Silhouette."

In part, Mrs. Wyatt said: "Now that the war is over dress designers and manufacturers are stressing a silhouette that is decidedly more feminine than ever. The fashionable silhouette will be very slim. Hips are sleek. Bodices are smug. Skirts are longer. Colors are gay and bright, taking their names from liquors. Dresses have a new feature—back interest. Sleeves are in the spotlight. They are very striking. Modified dolman, or bellow sleeves; balloon pushup, or lantern sleeves will be popular and in demand. Cape sleeves will be found on cocktail and dinner dresses. This is definitely a season of glamour. Wide armholes, pencil slim skirts, sequin trimmed blouses, styled to make the woman look more feminine than she has looked for years. Hats are exceedingly feminine being trimmed with flowing veils and ostrich feathers.

Members enjoying the program were: Mrs. George Austin, Miss Katherine Averette, Mrs. Fred Bennet, Mrs. Delma Carter, Mrs. Chas. Chisolm, Mrs. D. S. Harper, Miss Lallage Feazel, Mrs. Amos Hood, Mrs. Herschel Gentry, Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. Herbert Rhinehart, Mrs. Chas. Taylor, Mrs. Myatt McClendon, Mrs. H. B. McClendon and Mrs. L. B. Owens.

MISS BESS SHARP DISCUSSES FALL AND WINTER PROGRAM OF THE GIRL RESERVES

On Monday September 9th the President of the Inter-Club Council, the Presidents and Vice Presidents of the club groups, some of the leaders from the groups met with Miss Bess Sharp, executive director of the Y. W. C. A. to discuss the fall and winter program and activities of the Girl Reserve-Y-Teens. At this time Miss Sharp announced that the name GIRL RESERVES has now been changed to "Y-TEENS."

At the meeting of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. in June this recommendation that the Junior Members of the Y. W. C. A. be called "Y-Teens" instead of Girl Reserves was accepted. The group of leaders adopted this recommendation so now the girls are called "Y-TEENS." Carolyn Bagwell, president of the Inner-Club Council, told of some of the plans which the group were to follow this year. Kitty McCoy, editor of the newspaper which the groups have, discussed the suggestions and plans for the first issue of the paper and for the year.

Louise Harris, president of the Trisda Club (the Junior Group) and a delegate to the summer conference, presented the plans for the membership campaign. Other plans and suggestions were presented by Miss Sharp. Those who were present at this meeting were: Carolyn Bagwell; Kitty McCoy; Jean Bower who is president of the Jolly Y Janes; Edwina Albritton, vice president of Jolly Y Janes; Louise Harris; Margaret Pounds, who is vice president of the Kumjoynus-Blue Triangle Club; Ann Merriman; Alice Montgomery; and Mary Gertrude Rodriguez.

The next meeting of the group will be on September 21st at 10:00 a. m. The announcement of organization meetings for the various groups was also made: The Kumjoynus-Blue Triangle Group (8th Grade), will meet Monday, September 23rd at 4:30 p. m.; the Triads Group (the Junior Group) will meet on Tuesday, September 24th at 4:30 p. m.; the Jolly Y Janes Club (the Senior Group) will meet on Wednesday, September 25, at 4:30 p. m.; and the Blue Circle Club (the Freshmen Group) will meet on Thursday afternoon.

Membership in Y-Teens (Girl Reserves) is open to any girl in the 7th grade or in high school who wants to be a member. Miss Bess Sharp, executive director of the Y. W. C. A., one of the agencies of the Twin City Community Chest, stated that any girl who is interested in being a member may call the "Y": No. 4413 for information.

MISS LAURA LOUISE PATTON WILL BECOME THE BRIDE OF MR. THEODORE CROWELL

Of paramount social interest today is the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Laura Louise Patton, daughter of Mr. William F. Patton, of Tallulah, La., and the late Mrs. Laura Fluker Patton, of Monroe, to Theodore Crowell, son of Mrs. Evelyn Dooley Crowell, of Tulsa, Okla. The wedding will take place at the Sexton Memorial Chapel, Shreveport, La., at five o'clock in the afternoon on September 21.

Miss Patton is the maternal granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kendrick Fluker, of Monroe, and her paternal grandparents are Mrs. William Farmer Patton, of Shreveport, and the late Mr. Patton, of Monroe. She is a graduate of Neville High School and Northeast Junior College in Monroe and received her B. A. degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. Miss Patton has resided with her aunt, Mrs. Richard T. Treanor, and Mr. Treanor, of Shreveport, since her graduation from college in 1944.

Mr. Crowell is descended on the maternal side from the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dooley, of Grand Island, Nebr., and his paternal grandparents are Mrs. Frank Marion Crowell, of Glendale, Calif., and the late Mr. Crowell. He is a graduate of Tulsa University and a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Mr. Crowell was recently discharged from the army air corps where he held the rank of lieutenant.

Following their wedding they will reside in Tulsa, Okla.

Each year at this time a beautiful candle-lighting service is held at the Y. W. C. A., when officers for the new year are installed. Those taking part in this impressive service last Wednesday were: Miss Lucille Wallace, outgoing president; Miss Maude Brownlee, president; Mrs. Louise Phillips, vice-president; Miss Kate Strother, corresponding secretary; Miss D. L. O. Puckett, recording secretary; Miss Kay Moak, treasurer; Miss Myrtle Johnson, reporter; and Miss Rudelle Timmerman, parliamentarian.

Mrs. W. L. Albritton read a poem, "Father of Lights," and Miss Timmerman gave the story of the "House of Many Lights."

Mrs. Ethlee Pettey and Miss Helen Hunt, former members of the club, were welcomed back. Guests introduced were Miss Vera Petty, Miss June Shultz, Miss Alma Patrick and Miss Betty Humble.

Atheneum Club Meets In The Minniear Home

Mrs. Walter C. Minnlear, president of Atheneum club, welcomed its members into the new club year when it met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Morris, Jr., Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Gallien served as co-hostess and the two extended most gracious courtesies to those present.

Pink radiance roses and marigolds were used to decorate the living room of the Morris home for the meeting.

The meeting was opened by the reading of the poem of the month by Mrs. John Lewis.

During the business period, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson gave a report on the summer playground in West Monroe, presenting the proposed budget for the new year and requesting the cooperation of the club, which cooperation was pledged wholeheartedly.

Mrs. Dickerson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. H. S. Chilton, a guest, who talked on "Legislation," her message being received with appreciation.

Taylor Caldwell's book, "This Side of Innocence," was most splendidly reviewed by Mrs. Fred Grant, who is considered a most able reviewer.

The meeting adjourned with the club collect being read in unison.

During the social hour, delightful refreshments with frosted drinks were served to Mrs. H. S. Chilton, a guest, and Mesdames A. M. Barrett, W. C. Curry, A. L. Dickerson, Agnes Dickerson, Fred Grant, S. D. Kennedy, A. J. Lester, J. P. Lewis, W. C. Minniear, S. J. Monroe, Mrs. D. L. Nicol and the hostesses.

Dean Makes Prediction At First Faculty Meet- To Register Monday

Enrollment for the current school year at Northeast Junior College is predicted to reach the 600 mark, Dean Rodney Cline announced Saturday morning at the first faculty meeting of the 1946-47 term. This figure does not include special and irregular students who may boost the registration far beyond the full-time college student enrollment.

Registration begins September 16 at 8 a.m. and continues through September 17. No student may enroll for college credit after that time. Prospective students should report to the library building to begin enrolling. All those who find it possible are asked to start registering Monday.

The list of G. I.'s probably will comprise about half the number of regular students, he asserted. The policy of the college is to admit all qualified students. If enrollment greatly exceeds 600, the college may find it impossible to handle that number because of limited classroom space. The feasibility of running classes on two schedules is questionable, the dean explained, because that would necessitate a larger teaching staff. The great shortage of teachers would likely curtail such a plan.

Veterans who live in Louisiana will be admitted if they can present certificates from their service officer showing that they have applied for educational benefits provided they are high school graduates or have passed the G. E. D. tests. Out-of-state veterans are to be admitted only if they are fully qualified by having certificates of eligibility from the Veterans Administration.

Dean Cline said that indications point to a good year at N. J. C. from the standpoints of enrollment and an able faculty and staff. The high standing of instructors speaks well for the institution, he asserted. The college is well rated and fully accredited as a part of Louisiana State University. These factors were important in influencing teachers to accept positions here, he concluded.

Members of the faculty for the current school year include the following: Mrs. Florenze Ziegler Allbritton, Miss Jean Bains, Miss Mary Harrison Clay, Dr. Rodney Cline, Mrs. Fannie Pippin Davis, Paul Duet, Leon Eisenstat, Mrs. Mary Findley, Emmett J. Foster, William Parks Grant, Mrs. Esther Folsom Grant, Dr. William R. Hammond, B. S. Hamner, Miss Ada Bess Hart, Miss Helen Hayes, W. C. Honeycutt, A. S. Huffman, Miss Frances Kelso, Mrs. Louise Gray Lemert, Harry Lemert, James L. Malone, Miss Hazel Mitchell, Mrs. Mildred G. Mitchell, James F. Monroe, Mrs. Irene Riggin Nelson, Miss Fredonia Paul, W. L. Perkins, Miss Opal Pickett, L. L. Price, Captain Bernard D. Reynolds, Jr., Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Lewis Slater, Mrs. Mabel S. Clay, Miss Era Mae Smelley, Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, Mrs. Eloise Calhoun Stanhope, Miss Carrie Mae Stephenson, James S. Tarbutton, A. L. Tatum, Fred G. Thatcher, Jack Thatcher, Edward C. Whatley and Mrs. Dorothy Younse.

Staff members include: S/Sgt. C. W. Allen, Mrs. Myrtis Batten, Mrs. Gertrude Mayfield Brown, H. H. Causey, Major Jewell J. Frey, Miss Helen Frances Harris, M/Sgt. H. C. Jolly, Miss Lucille McLeod, Uriah Pickens, Miss Carlene May, Miss May Read, Mrs. Dorothy Phelps, Mrs. Mayme G. Stroud, Fred G. Thatcher, Mrs. Rosa Turnbough and Mrs. Irma Watson.

LITTLE THEATRE PLANS SEASON

With Talented Director, Fall Period Of Plays Promises Success

The membership drive of the Monroe Little Theater is already under way, having started last week and will be continued until 1,000 members are secured. When this number is enrolled, the campaign will end as for the first time the membership is to be limited this year.

Also another new feature, there will be patrons this time. To become a patron will mean that two season tickets will be given and mention made in the programs of the plays. The cost is $25 and with this fund it is sought to be able financially to erect a building of its own for the theatre, the site at Forsythe Park is already assured, free of cost, by courtesy of the City of Monroe.

On or about October 15, the first play will be presented. It will be given two successive nights and while not yet decided, will probably be one of the following: "Dear Ruth," "Kiss and Tell" or "Janie."

Tryouts will be announced through the press and will probably be held in the next few days.

The Little Theater board, headed by President Joe Kern, believes that the biggest and best season ever is before this group in 1946-1947. One of the most encouraging features is the fact that Kay Crandall, highly experienced director, has been engaged. She has been given an extensive education in her line and has directed play groups in New York and also G. I. programs in China during the war. In fact her programs were the only ones that were permitted to be shown there in wartime. Backed by both theory and wide experience as dramatist and director, Miss Crandall is believed to be exactly suited to the duties of Monroe's Little Theatre.

Her coming is regarded as a decided acquisition to Monroe dramatic circles.

JOHNNY HARTSON HEADS V. F. W. POST

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 14.—(Special)—At a meeting held last night in the Agriculture building in Farmerville, the Albritton-Carter Post No. 5442, Veterans of Foreign Wars, elected a new commander after Mr. Grafton tendered his resignation for business reasons. Johnny Hartson was stepped up to commander from the senior's commander's station.

Cecil Oliver is the new senior commander and Horace Clark the new quartermaster, Ray Alexander is the adjutant. The junior vice-commander's position will be filled at the next meeting to be held Friday, September 27.

C. P. Kien, of Oak Grove, fifth district commander, attended this meeting together with Past Department Commander C. A. Hunt, of Monroe. Commander Kien stressed the importance of the membership drive, now under way by the seventeen posts of the district.

Raleigh A. Poulos, junior vice-commander of the Monroe post, is the district membership chairman. Fifth District Commander Kien will be present at the Rodney J. Hobbs post meeting Thursday night, September 19, in Monroe, at which time a junior vice-commander will be elected.

PULPIT RECORD WILL BE MADE

Louis Wilhite, 13, Youngest Preacher, To Deliver Sermon

Louis Wilhite, a 13-year-old boy, will preach his first sermon beginning his life as a minister of the gospel next Wednesday. The service will be held in the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe at 7:30 p.m. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilhite of North Eleventh Street, West Monroe.

Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, states: "This is a very unusual youth. I have always given a lot of thought and time to youth and to young preachers and have had numbers of them in my church, but this boy is the youngest of them all. He has talent, faith and courage far in advance of his age.

Aside from having this 13-year-old boy preacher in their church, the Ridge Avenue Church has just elected a 22-year-old boy for superintendent of their church Sunday School and a 16-year-old girl as church pianist.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

An observant Florida editor has asked me for an interpretation of London's Communist-supported squatter campaign which has produced the astonishing though colorful spectacle of hundreds of vacant luxury apartments in London being occupied by homeless invaders under expert guidance.

Well, that's a good question, because as I see it this movement has been taken over by British Communists in a smart political maneuver. It is calculated to embarrass the present socialist government and to lay the ground-work for its defeat in the next general election which under normal circumstances would be held four years hence.

To get the full import of this move, one must understand what happened in the general election a year ago. Britain then amazed the world by turning out the conservative government, headed by the famous war-leader, Winston Churchill, and electing a labor (socialist) house of commons.

Now that didn't mean that the majority of the normally conservative people of England suddenly had swung hard left. What happened was that a lot of conservatives, being dissatisfied with the Churchill government's handling of domestic problems, decided to give the socialists a chance to see what they could do with such pressing questions as demobilization, employment and housing. So these conservatives — without abandoning their political beliefs—voted for the socialists and put them on trial without regard to politics.

When I was in England a few months ago I talked with numerous political experts about the situation. The socialists recognized that they were indeed on trial and that if they didn't make good they would be thrown out in the next general election through loss of votes among people outside the socialist party. That is, the socialist vote alone wouldn't be sufficient for re-election.

But what trend would the voting take? Would it swing back into the conservative fold, or would it go still further left and give the untried Communists a chance? Some highly placed socialists professed to fear that it would go red. However, the majority of observers felt that the country would return to conservatism if the socialists didn't make good.

Be that as it may, there is no love between British socialists and British Communists. The new government has turned thumbs down on Communism for home consumption, and London and Moscow have been viewing each other through dark glasses—as witness their fiery clashes in the "peace" conference and "United" Nations security council.

So shrewd British Communists saw a chance in the bad housing situation not only to cause the socialist government trouble but to make British Communism the hero of the English working class—the ism which could deliver the goods where both conservatives and socialists had failed. Furthermore—and this is important—any move which the socialist government might make to eject squatters would be likely to put it in the position of favoring "capital" as against the man-in-the-street.

Harry Pollitt, secretary general of the British Communist party, told a mass-meeting that the "working class is in a fighting mood," and hinted that the endurance test was just beginning. There hasn't been much "fight" so far (though that might come) but it's true that the squatters, bolstered by the Communists, are continuing to sit tight in their strange new quarters and, where facilities are available for washing clothes, are hanging junior's diapers out to the indignant gaze of aristocratic neighbors. In some cases the authorities have cut off both light and water from the seized apartments.

Meanwhile the unhappy government is trying to unhook the seat of its trousers from the horns of the dilemma. Prime Minister Attlee and his colleagues know that they will be damned if they oust the squatters, and will be equally damned if they don't.

OPTIMIST CLUB OPENS ITS DRIVE

Ambitious Young Men Are To Be Enrolled; Has Broad Program

The Optimist Club of Greater Monroe met Friday noon at the Frances Hotel with 28 members and one guest present.

Jack Entrican, chairman of the membership committee reported that he was starting a drive to enlist members from the young business men of Monroe and West Monroe. Each member was given a membership blank and requested to secure as many energetic and ambitious young business men as they possibly can, for the club will need many of this type member to carry on the work and programs that are planned by the Optimist Club and to initiate future projects that will benefit the community in which they live.

W. L. Howard, chairman of the sanitation committee, reported that progress is being made in the club's "Help Keep Your City Clean" campaign.

Lawrence Williams reported to the club that there are new provisions for converting government insurance from the monthly allotment type of six different types of policies. The types of policies are: Straight life, 20-year-pay life, 20-year endowment, 30-year endowment, endowment at age of 60, and endowment at age of 65. He said that service men have until January 1, 1947, to reinstate their lapsed policies by paying two premiums on the old policy and one payment on the converted policy. He urged that the veteran reinstate his insurance immediately, this can be done by contacting the veteran service officer in the courthouse.

In a typical automotive company office, where 1147 people work, approximately 250 tons of paper are consumed annually, the equivalent to 62,500,000 sheets the size of ordinary typewriter paper.

YOUNG WOMEN ARE URGED TO VISIT THE Y. W. C. A. AND TO ENJOY THE SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Many young people as students or as employees are coming into Monroe and West Monroe every day. Their studies and jobs keep them busy during the day and during the week but the evenings and the week-ends are times of loneliness and plain boredom. Of course there are a variety of solo diversions and some persons are satisfied to use their free time in reading or in writing letters; but others . . . members while at home of a family and a wide circle of friends . . . want companionships and don't know where to find it. One excellent way to solve this problem is to go to church and get into church activities. Several years ago perhaps it would have been feasible for a young woman to find companionship and to get acquainted by obtaining a room at the Y. W. C. A., but this is no longer possible with the Y. W. C. A. residence being filled to capacity and with limited facilities for residence applicants. However, the Y. W. C. A., one of the Community Chest's red feather agencies, does have programs and activities that are open to students and business and professional girls. The Y. W. C. A. has a student club called the "Twix-Tween" Club and two business and professional girls' clubs which meet on Wednesday evening for supper and programs at the "Y," 904 Jackson St. These week-night programs at the "Y" offer wide opportunities to meet people of your own age and of like interests. The big advantage of activities of the sort sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., is that you're in contact with friendly people. You're laying the foundations for friendships. You're becoming a part of the community in which you are living. If you're a stranger in Monroe or West Monroe . . . don't be a stranger any longer than necessary. Visit the Y. W. C. A. and get acquainted. The Business and Professional Girl's Club of the Y. W. C. A. is having an "Open House" as one of the events of their "Autumn Frolics" this afternoon from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the "Y," 904 Jackson, and a "Coffee Hour" on Wednesday afternoon at the Cameo Room of the Virginia Hotel for the purpose of providing an opportunity for getting acquainted. "Open House" is for those men and women who are interested in becoming better acquainted with the Y. W. C. A. activities.

At a beautifully planned dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cannon the engagement of Miss Melvina Wilby, daughter of Mr. Mike Wilby of Tallulah, La., to Mr. William A. Arbon of Birmingham, Ala., son of Mrs. Ann Arbon of Selma, Ala., was revealed in unique manner.

The table was florally adorned and serviced in silver and crystal. Covers were laid for the host and hostess and their two honor guests and the following out-of-town guests: Mrs. Ann Arbon, Mrs. Nora Arbon, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hider of Selma, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas of Tallulah.

It was announced at this time the wedding would take place in the early fall.

The First Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Sunday afternoon, September eighth, when Miss Sue Evelyn Tarver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Tarver, became the bride of Mr. Paul King, son of Mr. Archie King, of Muscatine, Iowa. The pastor, Rev. L. T. Hasting, officiated at the double ring service which was performed with impressive dignity.

Baskets of white gladioli, against a background of lush green woodwardia fern, were flanked with branched candelabra supporting tall white tapers. The chancel rail and baptistry window were entwined with smilax, and an arch entwined with smilax afforded a beautiful setting for the exchanging of the marriage vows.

Pews for the families and close friends were marked with sprays of white gladioli tied with white satin ribbon.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messrs. Jack Traver and George Holland, Jr., the organist, Mrs. Everette Zeigler, rendered a concert of nuptial music. For the processional, she played the Wedding March from Lohengrin and for the recessional, Mendelssohn't was used. She also accompanied the soloist, Miss Dorothy Bynum, who sang in lovely voice, "Because." Mrs. Zeigler wore embroidered sheer with corsage of asters and Miss Bynum wore blush pink marquisette with pink aster corsage.

Earl Traver, brother of the bride, and Victor King, brother of the groom, lighted the candles.

Miss Charlotte Petty, close friend of the bride, served as bridesmaid. She wore blush pink faille with deep lace yoke of the same shade. The tight fitting bodice was buttoned down the back with self covered buttons and the skirt was full and long. She carried a bouquet of pink and blue asters tied with lengths of blue and pink ribbons.

Miss Mary Margaret Curry, the maid of honor, wore a gown very similar to that worn by the bridesmaid and her bouquet was identical. They both wore head dresses fashioned of net in the same shades as their gowns.

Mr. Archie King, Jr., served his brother in the capacity of best man.

The bride walking with her father, who gave her in marrige wore a Duchess white satin wedding gown tight fitting bodice and sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves came to a point over the hands and the billowy skirt ended in a long train. The circular fingertip veil was caught to the head with a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible surmounted with white asters showered with white tuberoses and white satin ribbon.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social hall of the church decorated with white gladioli and pink asters.

The young couple stood with members of the bridal party and their parents to receive their many friends.

The bride's table was overlaid with white lace and was centrally adorned with a plaque of white gladioli and fragrant clematis. Mrs. Ivy Smith, wearing pale pink marquisette, presided at the punch bowl.

A coterie of young women in pastel gowns, passed individually iced wedding cakes on crystal trays. They were Misses Jamie Smith, Patty Lee Padgett, Sally Ann Ware and Jocelyn Wall, all intimate friends of the bride.

On another table also overlaid with with lace, the three tiered wedding cake was placed. It was a beautiful confection embossed in white roses and encircled with clematis and tuberoses.

The bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Hot Springs and will later be at home in Ames, Iowa, where the groom will resume his studies at Iowa State University.

Mr. King trained at Selman Field and served overseas for several months. He received his discharge several months ago.

Many handsome wedding gifts were received by the young couple.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included the groom's father, three brothers and sister from Muscatine, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Traver, Jr., of Omaha, Nebraska.

VERNA ADKINS

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man"... and come to think of it—I am! Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business it's mighty important to me.

*Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why we are so often able to make loans that others cannot.

*Of course—once in awhile I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer and discuss the situation frankly, in a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes." Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 2nd floor Bernhardt Building or phone me at 1288.

MILTON CANIFF

CHARLES C.CHARLES! —STUPID NAME FOR A STUPID LITTLE MAN! — I DON'T CARE HOW LONG IT TAKES, I'LL BE EVEN WITH YOU FOR SENDING TERRY AND THE PLANE OFF WITHOUT ME!

NASTALTHIA, QUEEN OF PHILANTHROPY, DUCHESS OF CHARITY—YOU ARE IN CHARGE OF THE UNDISTRIBUTED RELIEF SUPPLIES! WHERE SHOULD YOU BE BUT HERE— PROTECTING THE VITTLES FROM THE LOCAL GANG OF BADDIES?..

THE FLOOD HAS US TRAPPED LIKE RATS ON THIS HIGH GROUND...

YOU DIDN'T ANSWER OL' HOTSHOT'S QUESTION, SUGAR PUDDIN'!

LISTEN, YOU! I DON'T CARE IF THESE PEASANTS DIE OF STARVATION OR BURST FROM OVER-EATING! I WISH ONLY TO BE AWAY FROM THIS VILE PLACE— AND EQUALLY DISTANT FROM YOU!

WHERE I LIVE WE DON'T ACCEPT A JOB TO AID HELPLESS PEOPLE UNLESS WE INTEND GOING THROUGH WITH IT... I THOUGHT YOU MIGHT WANT TO TRY THAT ATTITUDE, FOR SIZE, JUST ONCE IN YOUR LIFE!

OH, YOU DID THIS TO REFORM ME, EH? I HAVE ONE ANSWER FOR THAT...

TURN ON THE WIRELESS AND SUMMON AN AIRCRAFT THAT CAN LAND ON WATER! TELL THEM I AM ILL— TELL THEM ANYTHING! IF YOU DON'T, I'LL LEAVE YOU IN NO CONDITION TO PREVENT MY DOING IT!

AREN'T YOU BEING SORTA SILLY, SILLY? BESIDES, NO COMMERCIALS ALLOWED ON THIS STATION!

SILLY, AM I? I KNOW WHERE THE SAFETY CATCH IS ON THIS WEAPON! ALL I NEED DO IS SNAP IT— PULL THE TRIGGER, AND---

THAT'S ALL, EXCEPT THAT—

...YOU MIGHT DO A BETTER JOB IF THE GUN HAD CARTRIDGES!

BUT I THOUGHT THIS THING...

WHILE UNDER THE DOOR....

DICK TRACY

CINNAMON DROPS

CHESTER GOULD

WELL, WE MIXED ANOTHER 3000 GALLONS. HAVE YOU GOT IT SOLD, GARGLES?

WHAT DO YOU THINK? BOTTLE IT UP. I'LL FIND MORE SUCKERS.

I SELL 'EM MOUTHWASH AT 2 DOLLARS A GALLON AND THEY CAN REBOTTLE IT AND SELL IT FOR 8 DOLLARS. WHAT ARE THEY SQUAWKING ABOUT?

BUT WHY DID YOU HAVE TO BUMP OFF THAT EMPIRE GUY? HE OWNED THE BIGGEST CHAIN OF STORES IN TOWN.

HE WAS GOING TO TURN ME IN. HE HAD THE STUFF ANALYZED!

HE THREATENED TO EXPOSE ME TO THE WHOLE INDUSTRY.

WHY THE DIRTY CROOK.

OBVIOUSLY, THE MURDERER OR ACCOMPLICE HID IN THIS NEWSPAPER STAND AND SLUGGED EMPIRE AS HE WENT OUT WITH CHRISTMAS EARLY. THERE ARE RUBBER HEEL MARKS ON UNSOLD PAPERS INSIDE.

AND IF THERE WAS AN ACCOMPLICE, WHERE DOES THAT PUT CHRISTMAS EARLY?

CHIEF, I DON'T KNOW, I DON'T KNOW.

TELL TRACY THESE MOUTHWASH SAMPLES TAKEN FROM EMPIRE'S DESK ARE ALL PHONIES. JUST WATER, SUGAR AND FLAVORING WITH DIFFERENT COLORS ADDED

I WENT TO MR. EMPIRE TO SELL HIM THE IDEA OF SPONSORING MY MORNING RECORD PROGRAM. WE VISITED SEVERAL NIGHT CLUBS BEFORE WE RETURNED TO HIS OFFICE. I WAS PRETTY HAZY.

CHRISTMAS, DO YOU REMEMBER ANYTHING HE SAID?

WHILE WE WERE HAVING DINNER HE SAID SOMETHING ABOUT A MOUTHWASH SALESMAN HE WAS HAVING TROUBLE WITH BUT HE LAUGHED IT OFF. THAT'S ALL.

YOU NEVER USE YOUR OWN MOUTHWASH DO YOU, GARGLES?

HA! NOT ME! DO YOU THINK I'M A DOPE?

BOTTLE THAT STUFF AND HAVE IT READY. I'M GOING OUT TO SEE SOME CUSTOMERS.

HEY, GARGLES, THAT BOX OF CIGARS YOU ORDERED CAME IN THIS MORNING.

Copyright, 1946, by The Chicago Tribune.

THANKS, JOE. REMEMBER, SIT TIGHT TILL I CALL YOU.

MERRIAM, DAUGHTER OF THE OFTEN-MARRIED GORGEOUS TYLISH, ARRIVES TO FIND HER MOTHER CAMPAIGNING FOR THE HEART OF THE PERENNIAL BRIDEGROOM, HORATIO BOARDMAN

DON'T TRY TO CONCEAL IT, MOTHER! I CAN TELL BY YOUR ACTIONS THAT YOU'RE PLANNING TO BE MARRIED AGAIN!

I WAS, MERRIAM--NOW HORATIO IS ANGRY AND I'M GOING TO SUE HIM FOR A MILLION FOR BREACH OF PROMISE!

MOTHER! YOU'RE UNPRINCIPLED!

TUT, TUT, MY DEAR! NEVER LET PRINCIPLES INTERFERE WITH A MILLION DOLLARS!

BOARDMAN, MEANWHILE, SEEKS AID OF HIS OLD FRIEND, CAPTAIN EASY

I LOST MY HEAD, EASY--WROTE LETTERS AND THINGS! SHE'LL SUE!

WHY DON'T YOU SETTLE WITH HER OUT OF COURT, SUH?

THE PRINCIPLE OF THE THING! I'LL PAY MILLIONS IN ALIMONY, BUT NOT A CENT IN HEART BALM!

BESIDES, MY NINE EX-WIVES ARE TAKING ACTION FOR MORE ALIMONY--ANOTHER SUIT FOR BREACH OF PROMISE WOULD MAKE ME A LAUGHING STOCK!

THEN WHY DON'T YOU MARRY HER?

BECAUSE GORGEOUS HAS BEEN MARRIED NINE TIMES--INCLUDING TWO MARRIAGES TO THE SAME MAN! DO YOU THINK I WANT TO BE REMINDED CONSTANTLY OF FORMER HUSBANDS?

THE NEXT DAY:

I'M NOT PROMISING ANYTHING, BOARDY, BUT I'LL SEE MRS. TYLISH AND TALK TO HER!

CAREFUL, EASY! SHE'S AN UNSCRUPULOUS WOMAN!

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"HOLD, MY FRIEND! HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN THAT THE GRYF WILL OBEY MAN IF HANDLED CORRECTLY?" TARZAN SAID AS THE COLLOSAL CREATURE APPROACHED.

"THE GRYF HAS KILLED MY PEOPLE FOR CENTURIES, 'OM-AT REPLIED. "I AM STILL AFRAID!"

THE APE-MAN PICKED UP A STOUT CLUB. THEN WITH CUPPED HAND TO MOUTH, HE FACED THE GRYF, TO CALL LOUDLY, "WHEE-OO!"

HEARING THE CALL, THE GRYF STOPPED AN LOWERED HIS HEAD. RUMBLING GROWLS SH THE EARTH AS TARZAN STRUCK THE GREAT, FLESH-EATER'S SNOUT WITH HIS CLUB.

THE JUNGLE LORD HAD SUBDUED THE GRYF BEFORE AND KNEW ITS HABITS. "WHEE-OO!" HE CRIED AGAIN, AND THE HUGE TRICERATOPS BECAME DOCILE AS A CIRCUS ELEPHANT.

TARZAN AND OM-AT CLIMBED TO A LOFTY PERCH ON THE BEAST'S HORNY SHOULDERS.

THEN, GUIDED BY WHACKS FROM TARZAN'S CLUB, THEIR PREHISTORIC MOUNT CRASHED THROUGH THE JUNGLE TOWARD THE CAVE DWELLINGS OF THE WAZ-DON, THE COUNTRY PEOPLE OF THE LAND OF PAL-UL-DON, OF WHICH OM-AT WAS GUND, OR KING.

FRIGHTENED FACES OF THE CAVERN DWELLERS GAZED AT THE STRANGE SIGHT OF OM-AT AND A WHITE STRANGER, DISMOUNTING FROM THEIR AGE-OLD ENEMY, THE FEARSOME GRYF.

OM-AT LED THE WAY UP THE FACE OF THE CLIFF BY CLIMBING PEGS THRUST IN HOLES, PREVIOUSLY, TARZAN HAD LEARNED TO SCALE THE WALLS WITH THE SPEED OF A WAZ-DON.

"GREETINGS, MY PEOPLE!" OM-AT SHOUTED. "IS THIS THE WAY YOU WELCOME YOUR OLD FRIEND, TARZAN-JAD-GURU?"

ONLY JA-MEK, THE SULLEN, SPOKE. "TARZAN, TAILLESS ONE, IS NOT WELCOME" HE GROWLED. "HE ALWAYS BRINGS TROUBLE!"

FLASH FIGHTS WITH FURY AND CLEVERNESS, DESTROYING DOZENS OF HIS VICIOUS FOES --BUT STILL THE HORDE INCREASES, DRIVING HIM BACK TOWARD THE WALL.

MARKO DEFIES VALKIR'S ORDERS: "HERE, FLASH, GRAB MY HAND -- I'LL HELP YOU UP!"

VALKIR FURIOUSLY TRIES TO THROW MARKO TO THE TERROCRABS--AND DALE GIVES THE QUEEN A TASTE OF HER OWN MEDICINE. VALKIR SHRIEKS, "HELP!"

NEXT WEEK: A QUEEN AT BAY.

"(O)F ALL THE PATHS THAT LEAD TO A WOMAN'S LOVE, PITY'S THE STRAIGHTEST"... THE KNIGHT OF MALTA — BUT TAKE IT EASY, HONEY!

SO FRED SAYS HE'S A HOPELESS CRIPPLE, EH?--A WEAKLING--ONLY HALF A MAN--SO HE REFUSES TO BE A BURDEN TO HONEY--WELL, HE SURE IS A REAL MAN INSIDE!

HE'S BEEN TELLING HONEY HE NO LONGER LOVES HER--THAT'S CRUEL! WHY NOT TELL HER THE TRUTH? OR DOES HE STILL LOVE HER?

O' COURSE HE LOVES HER--TEN TIMES MOREN EVER BEFORE!

THEN WHY DOESN'T HE SAY SO?--JUST COME RIGHT OUT AND TELL HER HOW IT REALLY IS!

AND HAVE HER SORRY FOR HIM? HE'S BEEN A STRONG MAN, GRAMPAW....

I GUESS A MAN LIKE FRED CAN STAND ALMOST ANYTHING, EXCEPT HAVIN' TH' WOMAN HE LOVES SORRY FOR HIM...

HM-M-M--YES--I'D BE THE SAME WAY--ANY REAL MAN WOULD--

NO! I'D NEVER LET ON THAT I WAS SORRY FOR HIM!

DON'T GUESS YOU COULD HELP SHOWIN' IT SOMETIMES HONEY...

BUT I'D NOT BE SORRY FOR FRED, EVER! HE'S NOT A WEAKLING! HE'S THE BEST MAN IN SMOKY HOLLOW--OR IN THE WHOLE WORLD!

HIS SPIRIT SEEMS STRONG AS EVER--BUT, OF COURSE, HIS LEGS...

WHAT'S THAT GOT TO DO WITH IT? HE LOVES ME, AFTER ALL--I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN--HE LOVES ME! THAT'S ALL THAT MATTERS!

I'M GOING OVER THERE! AND THIS TIME.....

NO! NOW YOU ARE BEING FOOLISH!

WAIT! DON'T RUSH THE BOY! HE'S GOT TO THINK THIS OUT--WORK IT OUT IN HIS OWN WAY...

WAIT--WAIT--WAIT! BUT FOR HOW LONG, GRAMPAW? FOR HOW LONG?

PALS NEEDN'T BE SO FORMAL - SINCE MY FIRST NAME, SOCRATES, IS TOO LONG, JUST CALL ME SOC!
O.K., SOC - AND SINCE WE'RE PALS, MAYBE YOU CAN TELL ME WHY I'M WAY OUT HERE IN BALI!

TWO REASONS - FIRST BECAUSE YOU'RE LUCKY ENOUGH TO HAVE THE GREAT BIM GUMP FOR AN UNCLE...
AND SECOND BECAUSE I'M A GEOLOGIST - AND I'M HERE TO LOOK FOR FISSIONABLE ORES!

SEVERAL HOURS LATER -
HERE'S A GOOD CAMPSITE - WE'LL PUT UP FOR THE NIGHT --
SWELL - I'LL GET WOOD FOR THE FIRE - AND AFTER SUPPER YOU CAN TELL ME A FEW STORIES -

AFTER YOU GET YOUR GEOGRAPHY LESSON FINISHED, YOU'LL BE TOO SLEEPY FOR BED-TIME TALES, YOUNG FELLER -
I'M STARVED, SOC - SLICE THE BACON. THE FIRE'S ABOUT READY -

EARLY NEXT MORNING!
COME ON, CHESTER - PACK UP AND LET'S MOVE - WE'VE GOT MILES TO COVER TODAY!
CAN YOU SEE THE EXACT PLACE WE'RE HEADING FOR, SOC?
